BOARD VIEWS CAPS STREETS, PRICES

White Street Again Up For Discussion

The question of a connecting street between Broadmoor and Westlake popped up at the regular meeting of the Jefferson Elementary School Board again last Thursday.

Also aired was another old issue, that of caps and gowns. Other business before the Board was the consideration of prices requested by various property owners for school sites.

In the connecting street matter, the Board received a letter from County Engineer M. A. Grant in which he refused to meet representatives of the school to discuss the controversial White Street.

Second Letter

Another letter from Charles Becker, Westlake attorney, requesting that the Board ask the County Planning Commission to reaffirm their approval of the "red plan" for the extension of White Street. This plan is the one previously agreed to by both the Board and the Commission. It would be on the west boundary of the Garden Village upper school site and the east boundary of the Garden Village primary school site. It would require removing two homes from 87th street.

The Board agreed to meet with the planning Commission to discuss the "red plan" once again.

However, the Commission, reversing itself for the second time, went on record as opposed to the "red plan" several weeks ago. The Commission asserts it will hold out for the plan which would take the connecting street adjacent to the new Garden Village School. The School Board has flatly refused to consider this plan.

Caps and Gowns

Meanwhile, the Board went on record that caps and gowns will not be necessary at the elementary school graduation. The only formal attire for the night graduation will be block letters (furnished by the district) worn by the graduates.

Examining the selling price of several sites for new schools, the Board turned thumbs down on all proposals and in several cases indicated that the District Attorney's office will take steps to require the sites at what the Board believes is a "fair" price.

High Prices

Following are the selling prices set on the sites:

Shinazy property for the Garden Village Upper Grade School, less 40 feet: $15,000. The Board has offered a maximum of $5,500.

Three lots adjacent to the Woodrow Wilson site, specifically the rear 62.5 feet of each lot: $1,000. The Board has offered a maximum of $650 per lot.

Abbey Homestead, blocks 47 and 48: $259,977. James Snell, superintendent of schools, said this was better than "twice the appraisal value of the property" in appraisals submitted to, and approved by the State Department of Finance.

STIR UP THE SOUND AND FURY, BUT PLEASE SIGN YOUR NAME

This week we received several flamboyant letters addressed to "Letters to The Editor."

Unfortunately none of the letters were signed; except as in one incident by "An Adopted Parent."

We hope to run these letters, and many others. However, there MUST BE A SIGNATURE, or no letter can be printed. It is unfair, we believe, to stir up fury without being willing to face the hungry mob.

We hope future letter writers will be many, and have the courage to sign their names.

Remember, any SIGNED letter will be printed as long as it is within the limits of the law of libel.

LOCAL COURTS TO CLOSE SHOP

Supervisors Approve New 3-Court System

Three municipal courts with four judges for all of San Mateo County will soon replace the 13 police courts and five justice courts in the county.

The new system was approved by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday by a 4 to 1 vote.

In effect this will mean there will no longer be a police court for Daly City or a justice court in South San Francisco. All law violators, whether for a meter violation or felony will have to report to the court serving the north county in Millbrae.

The municipal courts, when enacted by the legislature, will start operation in January, 1953, after elections for the judges are held in 1952.

The courts will be in the following districts:

1. A north county municipal court with one judge, to operate for all communities from Millbrae north.

2. A central county court, also with one judge, to take care of San Mateo, Burlingame, Hillsborough and the unincorporated territory on a line drawn west from the southern limits of San Mateo and running to the present fourth township boundary.

3. A southern court with two judges, one of whom may assist the superior courts when necessary. The district will include all the territory south of San Mateo to the Santa Clara County line, and all of the present fourth township.

Supervisor Alvin S. Hatch of Half Moon Bay was the lone dissenter on the board.

Hatch, favoring the recommendation made to the board by the judicial and County Manager E. R. Stallings of two courts and three judges, believes it would be easier to increase the number of judges if needed than to reduce the positions.

New Park Plans Made For Colma

The city council, at a caucus meeting Monday night, requested the Jefferson Elementary School district to make available for the city a portion of the new 17 acre Colma School site.

Councilmen assert the land can be used for a city park and playground without hindering plans for the Colma School.

"Acquisition of the land will improve present recreation facilities and at the same time save money which was to be used for a park in that area," Mayor Paul Green said.

The mayor said that school authorities have tentatively agreed to the city's proposal.

School architect Mario J. Ciampi has been requested to furnish the city with a plot development plan so estimates can be determined.

Meanwhile, the completion of the Marchbanks Park and Edgewood Park is near; while construction of the $350,000 Community Center Building is temporarily delayed due to a 10 day wait for structural steel.

Housing Problem

40,000 Hogs Looking for a Home

"Just a-looking for a home," is the lament of 40,000 hogs today.

The cry was sounded at an adjourned meeting of the County Planning Commission last Thursday by the San Mateo Hog Raisers Association.

With a growing population pushing the hog ranchers on the north, and the cemeteries expanding in the south the space for hog ranches is growing smaller and smaller.

What was once a thriving industry in the southern Daly City and Colma area is threatened with anihilation. With so many people moving into this area, both topside and underground, there just isn't any more room for the hogs.

"The Colma hog ranches are now in a zone which in the near future will be the site of hundreds of homes," Ronald Campbell, planning advisor, noted this week.

Where, Oh Where

Where are the 40,000 hogs going to move?

Frankly, the Planning Commis-

RESIDENTS URGED TO PASS BONDS

New High School Desperately Needed

Reminding citizens that today's elementary school students will be tomorrow's teen-agers, Jefferson High School District Superintendent Stanford Hannah urged a 100 per cent "YES" vote at the May 18 bond election.

He pointed out that last year voters approved a bond issue to build new elementary schools to eliminate "swing shift" education.

"Many forget that the overcrowded conditions in the lower grades carry through to the high school," Hannah said. "Our present school serves 950 students, well over its capacity. By 1953 there will be 1,400 enrolled in high school.

One Answer

"Where are we going to put these students if we don't have a new school?"

The answer, "according to any thinking resident," is simply a "YES" vote to build new schools and improve present facilities, Peter Markovich, high school board trustee, declared.

The $1,300,000 bond issue will cost the average taxpayer no more than 2 cents a day. In turn that small expenditure will be used to:

1. Build a new modern high school on Skyline Boulevard for 500 to 600 students.

Vote "YES"

2. Purchase a second site near Sharp Park for future building of a third school.

3. Erect a multiple purpose building on the present site of Jefferson High School.

4. Purchase equipment for the new school.

And if the bond issue doesn't pass? Hannah said the only solution will be "swing shift" classes in the high school. This, in turn, will mean that no student will receive the proper education.

"Let's not fail the kids. Be sure to vote, and vote "YES" at the Friday, May 18 bond election," Markovich said.

Westlake Church In New Quarters

The Westlake Community Baptist Church has moved its place of Sunday 11 a.m. worship from the Crest Theatre, 7252 Mission St., Daly City, to the beautiful Abbey Chapel, Mt. Olivet Memorial Park, Hillside Blvd. and F Sts., Colma.

The Board of Directors of Mt. Olivet Memorial Park extended a most gracious invitation to the Church to use their newly decorated Abbey Chapel ,adjacent to Hillside Blvd. The chapel is equipped with beautiful pews and one of the finest Hammond Electric Organs. This certainly is the answer to many needs of this fast growing church, that has doubled its membership in three months.

Next Sunday will be the first Sunday the Church will have used Abbey Chapel and provisions are now being made for a record attendance.

Provisions have also been made to start the regular Sunday School program that will characterize a major part of the church activities.

The new location of the Church will make it very convenient for Sterling Tract residents who have

Thousands Expected To Turn Out For Year's Biggest Annual Event

by Erle Johnson

This Sunday thousands of people will come to Daly City to witness another wonderful Spring Festival parade and program sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

Last year the weather man gave Daly City one of its finest days, and helped the many people responsible for the pageant stage one of the finest of its kind in the state. With our fingers crossed and hoping for another of those days, our pageant should be even better than last year's.

Dan Andersen, City Administrator, announces the parade will start at 12:30 and follow its usual course down Mission Street to Market Street; then west to Station Avenue, and finally back to the Jefferson Union High School football field where it will terminate with a turn around the field's track.

Nearly 100 organizations have entered parade units to join with over 25 Daly City organizations which are participating. Parade units will consist of bands, drum corps, drill teams, marching groups, floats, decorated cars, and mounted units.

Andersen, this year's parade chairman, has done a splendid job in helping to make it finer than ever.

Big Program

Erle Johnson and Gladys Kennedy, program chairmen, promise a program that will equal those of the past and consist more of quality than quantity. The program wil lstart at 2:30 at the Jefferson High School football field.

The Jefferson High School Board are to be thanked for their wonderful cooperation. The Daly City Garden Club, under the chairmanship of Elsie Garrison, is to be commended for the decoration of the stage. These people have worked long and hard to make the pageant even more colorful.

Les Vogel has supplied a sound truck, so everyone will be able to hear as well as see the program. Tommy Harris, from San Francisco, is to be the program's emcee and will announce numbers from the following dance studios: Bunny Carol's, Leota's in Buri Buri, and Carol Rae's from Colma.

String Ensemble

Michael Wexler from the National Institute of Music and Arts will conduct his string ensemble. The Daly City Band, under the direction of George Brenner, will open the program with the Star Spangled Banner. The May Queen Procession and Coronation of Queen Maryann Laramie is next, followed by the May Pole Dance. Mrs. Golliday's Brownies, Leota's and Bunnie Carol's girls will braid the May Poles. John Mathews, local Physical Education Instructor, will add a novel event with his high school tumblers.

Elman J. Rose, Director of Recreation and Pageant Chairman, has worked long and hard the past four years and is to be congratulated that each year's pageant is bigger and better than the last. The Spring Festival Committee members have coordinated their efforts to show a terrific civic interest in the pageant, and are to be thanked for their long and tedious hours.

Dress Committee

Mrs. Lois Adami is again Queen chairman and responsible for the Queen and attendants dresses. Despite many difficulties she has again met the deadline, and the court will be something to see.

Mrs. M. Carruthers gave her

Pay Boost

City Employes To Get 6% More

City employes this week were ofered either a 7 per cent pay hike, or a 6 per cent raise and a hospitalization plan.

The proposal was made by the city to its employes at a meeting Tuesday evening. Employes will vote on one of the measures, and a decision is expected next week.

Mrs. Marion McKaskle, president of the city employes association, noted that the pay increase was short of the earlier, flat $40 a month cost-of-living increase asked by the employes.

"The opinion of employes, expressed informally, is that the city's pay increase is not enough, and does not meet the respective increase in the cost of living," Mrs. McKaskle said.

The majority of employes have not had a raise for the past two years. The current pay hike will go into effect July 1.

Firemen's Ball

Annual Dance Date Announced

The Widows' and Orphans' Association of the Daly City Fire Department will hold their eighteenth Annual Ball Saturday evening, May 12, at the Jefferson High School Auditorium.

Music will be furnished by Howard Fredric.

During the intermission the Department will proudly present "The World's Punching Bag Champ," Sam Slavich of the San Francisco Fire Department.

Slavich has been performing for the past 35 years, and is the only man who can play music with the punching bag. He is 63 years old and stil going strong with his benefit performances.

In the event you haven't purchased your ticket, and you wish to attend the ball, you will be able to purchase tickets at the door.

3500 Take Part In Schools Week

Visitors to the Jefferson Elementary School District exceeded 3,500 as the students and teachers displayed to the public the work being carried on in the elementary schools.

The series of open houses held in the evenings permitted fathers and mothers to visit the schools, become acquainted with the teachers and view the work of the pupils which had been placed on display in the classrooms of the district.

Special features included demonstration lessons in the use of audio visual equipment. A woodshop class in operation and a display of the wearing apparel made by the girls of the 7th and 8th grade homemaking classes.

James L. Snell, superintendent of Schools, stated today that while the program involved a considerable amount of work on the part of teachers, other school employees and pupils, the fine turnout by the public and the interest shown was gratifying to all concerned.

BAYSHORE VISITACION VALLEY

By Bernice Hendryx JUniper 4-6449

Bayshore now has a new member on its water board. There was an election held at the Voters' League Hall last Tuesday, and 175 people turned out to vote. That isn't very many, but it decided the question of who would set on your water board. The two men running were Vince Morris, the incumbent, and Jim Mills, a resident of many years in Bayshore. Jim Mills was elected by what amounted to a landslide. The figures were, Jim Mills, 137, Vince Morris, 38. There is only one absentee ballot out, that is yet to be counted. The votes will be canvassed next Monday, which is nothing more or less than a formality.

Baptist Church

Two unfortunate things have occured that center around the Baptist Church. Three of the church windows, in the rear of the building, were broken last Friday. One of the windows was the stained glass one, which amounts to more than a bit of window glass. The church people have been trying very hard to improve the appearance of the grounds surrounding the church, by leveling the ground, and, as they can afford it, buying a bit of cement at a time, to finish off the front.

Much Work

All of the work that is done around the church, is done by church members that give their time. They bought cement, and by working when they found the time, they finished off a section at the front of the building, and fenced it off to dry. The next day it was discovered that someone had broken down the little fences that had been put up, and along with various foot prints, a number of the worst kind of obscenities had been scratched into the cement.

These little tricks have undoubtedly been perpetrated by youngsters. We can say that it's impossible to watch them all the time. It can also be said that they sometimes do the same things to our own places. There have been instances here when these things have happened before, and not too long ago at that, when the children that have done some of these things have admitted the deeds, and the parents have refused to make good the damage.

When one of the children destroys something that belongs to a neighbor, it is up to the parents and neighbors to fight it out and reach an understanding. When you are representing a group of people, and I am speaking now of a pastor, you are obligated to the people of your church to do the best you can for them.

Small Budget

We all know that the Baptist Church has a very small budget to work on. Whether we belong to that church or another one, it is nice to think that we are raising our children to respect our beliefs and the beliefs of others. When we refuse to accept the responsibilities of our children, that isn't good, but when we show our children that we have no more respect for church property than we have for our neighbor's property, that is even worse, unless we are atheists.

As a little thought for the day, we might all remember that it is easier for us to refuse to cooperate with a church, than it is to refuse to cooperate with a neighbor. There is always the danger that the neighbor will haul you into court, but in nearly all cases, that danger doesn't confront us, when we are dealing with a church, whose responsibilities include the job of trying to teach us to get along with one another.

Cancer Drive

The Cancer Drive in Bayshore is winding up, and while the figures aren't complete, here is what we know to date. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Bayshore Fire Dept. turned in $106.70 on their telephone whist. The Mr. and Mrs. Club turned in $25.00, from a dance they had this month. The teen-agers turned in $6.21, from a dance they gave. The quilt that was raffled neted $87.00. Two of the clubs in the valley donated checks, which amounted to $20.00. Mrs. Helen Langer madepuppets and wrote a play, which she presented to the children in the Bayshore School Auditorium. She took in $24.20. That is a total of $269.11, but all the figures aren't in as yet. Our quota here is $400, and we can only hope that we have at least met that.

"A" for effort, should, I believe, go to Mrs. Helen Langer on this drive. She handled a big job and did it practically alone. She designed and made the puppets, wrote the entire play, and in short did a job of work she can be proud of.

Sunday Sermon

The topic Sunday morning at the Baptist Church will be "The Price of Peace." The topic Sunday evening will be "All-Important Questions."

The April meeting of the Bayshore Improvement Club was delayed for one week, and will be held Friday evening, May 4, at 8 p.m.

The Scout-O-Rama opens its doors for two days this week. Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5, the boys will perform at the Cow Palace. Take it in this year. The set-up is different than it has been in the past, and individual troops will entertain the observers with little skits and plays.

"RECORD" REMINISCENCE

NEWS ITEMS APPEARING IN THE RECORD 10 YEARS AGO

Thirty-two selectees from this district answering the fourth draft call are going off on the first leg of their journey to army life this morning. They are the last to go before the recent reduction in the demand for draftees becomes effective. Since the Federal government has reduced the number to be called during the first year, Daly City's total is now 145 for the period ending July 1.

40,000 Hogs Look For A Home

sion isn't sure. They have asked the ranchers, and hope that some solution may be found in the near future. Ranchers have 30 days in which to make recommendation for a new hog zoning area.

The probable answer is "down to the sea." The move to the Coastside was evident this week when a prominent hog rancher, P. Benedetti, asked for a permit to operate a ranch near Lobitos Creek, midway between Half Moon Bay and Pescadero. Action on Benedetti's application has been deferred until a recommendation on future ranches is completed.

Suggestions

However, while the hogs may see the Coastside as their future home; other residents have a prior claim. Several of these residents make no bones about putting up a fight before allowing that area to be zoned for the hogs.

Meanwhile, anyone with an idea as to where 40,000 hogs can settle down is asked to contact the Planning Commission.

Uncle Sam Takes 20 Men For May

San Mateo County will have its smallest induction call since the outbreak of the Korean conflict, when 20 men are inducted this month.

It was first believed that there would be no county call up this month, however, selective service headquarters received orders to have 20 men report May 16.

The May inductees will report to 30 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco, for induction instead of reporting to Fort Ord as before. After induction in San Francisco they will be transported to Fort Ord.

There have been no May physicals ordered yet, and no word regarding June induction calls have been received, selective service headquarters announced this week.

According to a selective service spokesman, the present manpower pools will accommodate selective service needs through the summer if current induction calls are not increased.

However, a return to the size of the January, February and March calls would soon exhaust the supply, it was said. This month's call is limited to men over 20 years old.

Colma Woman Injured In Automobile Crash

An early Sunday morning auto accident resulted in a possible skull fracture, compound fracture of the right ankle and cuts to Mrs. Annabel Dickman, 41, of 848 Seventh Street, Colma.

The accident occurred when the car driven by her husband, Henry, 43, jumped a traffic island on Hillsdale Boulevard in San Mateo, and crashed into an electrollier.

May 1-6 Rhododendron Week In San Francisco

The Park-Recreation Department this week is busy moving hundreds of boxed and tubbed flowering rhododendrons into downtown Union Square here, for the city's eight annual Rhododendron Week, May 1-6.

The event is sponsored annually by the Downtown Association in cooperation with the city. Thousands of visitors throng the Square daily during the Week to admire the blooms and examine new varieties which have been developed recently.

Rhododendrons in Golden Gate Park, in the rhododendron glen and in Strybing Arboretum, are rapidly coming into bloom, too, department officials reported.

Appropriate $480 To Correct Signals

The City Council appropriated $480 as its share of correcting signals at Kings Market, Junipero Serra Boulevard and 87th Street, at an April 30 caucus meeting.

Joint Highway District No. 10 also will contribute $480 and the State of California $280, totalling $1200.

The change will permit southbound Junipero Serra traffic to be on "go" at the same time as the left-hand signal, turning east onto School Streets, is on "go," saving peninsula commuters time in their travelling through Daly City.

Public Praise Unanimous For Westlake Center

The enthusiastic appraisals of the huge crowds inspecting the apartment buildings in the Westlake tract, combined with the heavy buying at the opening of the spacious grocery store last week furnishes additional proof of the accurate foresight of Henry Doelger.

These two new developments in the $140,000,000 project that has risen from 1000 acres of hump backed truck-gardening fields will provide new housing for thousands of Bay Area people.

Just at the tip of San Mateo County on the rolling hills and valleys north of Alemany Boulevard extension, the Westlake tract stretches from Junipero Serra Boulevard westward almost to the ocean.

The land, measuring some four miles long by a mile and a half wide, was purchased from an old Spanish family and shorn of its artichokes and cabbages.

Starting in 1949, Doelger invested $450,000 in road building equipment to move more than 10 million cubic yards of earth in one of the largest grading projects ever to take place in this area.

Ground was plotted for 7,000 homes, averaging 33 to 44 foot frontage and a depth of 100 feet.

Almost 1000 of these homes have been built and are occupied, 200 are under construction, and the balance of from five to six thousand are scheduled to be completed within approximately five years.

National Real Estate and Building Journal cites Doelger as the largest single buyer of lumber on the West Coast, a record he established when he contracted for 84 million board feet of rought lumber for the Westlake homes.

"This combination of quantity buying and finishing in his own mill contributed a saving of $10 per thousand feet toward low-cost, high-value homes," the magazine reported.

Chamber General Manager G. L. Fox this week pointed to the Doelger development as significant in the southward expansion of San Francisco population.

"Additional housing facilities for the city's ever-expanding population are vitally important and necessary," he said.

"A project such as Westlake is a tribute not only to the ability of this area to supply low-cost homes for its people, but a credit to the entire building industry."

Veneer Gives Wide Choice

One of the reasons for the ever-increasing popularity of hardwood veneer wall paneling is that it can be obtained in so many widely varied designs.

There is virtually no limit to the number of patterns which can be produced, due to the wide diversity of figure types and also to the fact that adjacent veneers from the same flitch (section of log from which veneers are cut) can be matched to make symmetrical designs.

Veneer matching has been developed to such a point that the designer can obtain almost any effect desired. In the process, veneers sometimes are squared, clipped at an angle, cut into a number of small segments or are treated in some other manner.

Manufacturers are able to produce these beautiful designs only in plywood construction, because many of the most prized woods otherwise could not be used commercially. The parts of the tree which provide the most exquisite figures—crotch, burl and stump wood in particular—have a natural tendency to crack and split, but this is overcome by applying the wood in the form of thin face veneers on plywood panels.

Farmers Build Portable Shelters

Farmers now should be building and repairing farrowing sheds, range shelters, brooder houses and other portable structures for spring use.

As in the days of the past war, farmers are being asked to step up production in the present emergency, and more portable farrowing units and brooder houses will be needed on many farms. The materials to build new structures and recondition others, such as asphalt shingles and roll roofing, lumber, plywood and hardware, can be obtained from local building supply dealers.

Taste-Teasers

By NANCY COOK—ANS Features

A spaghetti dinner can be a grand occasion if you master a few chef's tricks of cooking and seasoning. For one thing, don't overcook spaghetti. It's ready to serve as soon as it's tender. Handle it carefully, so it doesn't get broken. Then step up its taste appeal with an exciting sauce. For time-thrifty cooks, there's a real chef's sauce in an 8-ounce can all ready to heat and serve. In two varieties—one with meat, the other with mushrooms—it's flavored, blended and cooked with real culinary skill. These cans are easy to store on the pantry shelf, so they are always on hand. Another good shelf item is a packaged spaghetti dinner complete with quick-cooking spaghetti, meat or mushroom sauce, and even a can of Parmesan-style cheese. Makes an appetizing "jiffy" main dish for a meatless meal . . . or serve with chicken, steak or meatballs. You can also buy spaghetti with meatballs and sauce in a can . . . ravioli, too, another mainstay canned to the queen's taste.

With these dishes, serve a generous green salad, or a plate of raw vegetables—crisp carrot and celery sticks, onion and green pepper slices, radishes and tiny raw cauliflower flowerets.

"Jiffy" desserts . . . delicious time savers for busy cooks. So easy to prepare, even the youngsters can make them with perfect results, for there are no complicated mixing instructions. One recipe is for Magic Macaroons, using Rice Krispies; the other, Bran Choco Crunch—a tasty topping for pudding or ice cream.

BRAN CHOCO CRUNCH

1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate bits
2 cups ready-to-eat bran
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Melt chocolate bits over hot water. Add bran and nutmeats. Spread on greased cookie sheet and separate shreds with two forks. Cool. Serve as topping on puddings or ice cream. Yield: 12¼ ounces (3 cups.)

MAGIC MACAROONS

½ cup condensed milk
1 cup shredded cocoanut
1 cup oven-popped rice cereal

Mix condensed milk, cocoanut and rice cereal. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto well-greased baking sheet, 1-inch apart. Bake in moderate (350°) oven 10 minutes, or until delicately browned. Yield: 1½ doz. macaroons (2 inches in diameter)

RENT CONTROLS UP FOR SECOND ROUND

It came as a surprise to no one.

Two weeks after the city council lifted the ceilings on rent controls here, several tenants popped up with bitter complaints. Why hadn't they been notified?

Those complainants evidently don't read The Record. Some three weeks before the council's action, readers were given the complete low down on the public hearing to discuss rent controls. And when it came time for the hearing, who was there? No one.

Once again Daly City residents showed their unqualified disinterest in city affairs, even when those events meant dollars in their pockets.

However, this is one time when the clock can be turned back. Due to a technical flaw in the first decontrol resolution, it will be necessary to hold a second hearing this Tuesday, May 8. The hearing gets underway at 8 p. m. in the city council chambers.

Purpose of this conclave will be to discuss lifting rent controls.

If you are for, or against abolishing the rent ceiling make it a point to turn up at the hearing. Here is a second chance. Take advantage of it, or forever hold your peace.

EDUCATION --- 1st LINE OF DEFENSE

There is some talk these days about fighting communism. In Korea the talk has reached the fighting stage.

But here at home, too many are willing just to talk, no more.

Come Friday, May 18, every voter will have the opportunity to take the front line against the red menace. On that day he or she will either approve, or turn thumbs down on building a new high school for this area.

What has a school bond election got to do with the fight against communism? Let General Eisenhauer answer that question. In a recent speech he said: "Education is the first line in the defense of democracy as opposed to communism."

Voters, May 18, will hold that line, or abandon it to save a few pennies a month on the tax bill.

Without a new school the students of this area by 1953 will be without proper facilities to learn the everyday lessons which are the foundation of a democratic system. And where ever we find the illiterates, the uninformed, we are most apt to find the seeds of malcontent which is communism.

A "YES" vote May 18 is not only necessary, it is the duty of any thinking, American citizen.

DON'T GET OUT OF A MOVING CAB

There was an interesting item reported in South San Francisco this week when a gentleman, more than slightly under the weather, stepped out of a cab.

Now getting out of a cab is quite a natural thing, especially when the rider believes he is parked in his own driveway. However, this particular fare was operating under a tragic illusion. The cab was nowhere near his house. As a matter of fact when the gentleman decided to get out, the machine was doing better than 50 miles an hour down Bayshore highway.

Fortunately, the rider lost nothing but his dignity and a few inches of skin.

Outside of being an unusual story, there appears to be a moral in this yarn. Too many people in this community resemble the unlucky rider. They are intoxicated with indifference. They are certain that all goes well in city affairs, that city council meetings are always standing still, and whenever they choose to make a move all will be well.

On the contrary, every day some event of interest happens in the city which may be of vital importance to the residents. Each council meeting is a move forward in city affairs.

It is a wise idea to keep up with city business. Some day it may prove more than embarassing to open the door on city affairs and find yourself bounced on the street of hard facts. But, unlike the rider in the South City yarn, you may not be able to pick yourself up.

Draft Of New Pound Ordinance Studied

Attempting to overcome the current dog problem, the City Council this week has been studying draft of a new pound ordinance prepared by City Attorney Frank B. Blum.

The draft is patterned after a review of more than a dozen model ordinances of other cities. A new ordinance is required for control of dogs that have been getting out of hand recently.

The pound is directed to take steps to control numbers of animals ranging at will, and dog owners are requested to license their pets and to care for them properly, keeping them out of mischief.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Stubborn Deaf

WHY NOT FACE THE FACT that you are deaf, or getting deaf? Why make your affliction—a very common one—a blight to your family as well as yourself? The blind are tremendously courageous in lessening the burden of their own particular cross for everyone; most blind persons take particular pains to assure you that they get along very well.

The toothless—also a large army in middle life—smile over their troubles. They smile rather as a picket fence might be supposed to smile, perhaps, but nevertheless they minimize their misfortune, if it is one, and assert gallantly that to be done with dentists and toothache and fillings and all the rest of it is a relief.

(A boy on crutches thanks you) as you give him a hand into a bus or train. Perhaps he lost that leg fighting to keep you free and secure, but he doesn't remind you of it; he thanks you. One man I know wears but one arm; he was young when a railway accident changed him physically, for all the years to come. He drives his car, ties his tie, manicures his hand, runs a big business, and says that perhaps that misfortune "kicked him upstairs." He might have been a cog in a big machine, with two arms. The shock of his loss forced him to think and act independently.

But the deaf! Why are they so sensitive?

"My daughters visited my mother in New York last year, looking forward to a wonderful time in the big city," writes Margot Younger from Plattsville. "It happens that my mother, my uncle, and an elderly cousin who lives with them are all rather deaf. The housekeeper is also deaf. None of these old persons would stoop to any of the hearing helps that are so wonderful now.

". . . boy on crutches thanks you . . ."

Deaf Go On Blandly

"The girls screamed and repeated and interpreted until they were hoarse. Then they secretly sent my husband a wire to say that on any pretext they must be summoned home. By co-incidence their brother was expected back from Seoul for a few weeks leave, and Ray used that as an excuse, and they came home. Of course, they were both disappointed and discouraged, and we all began to think of this question of the bald and the halt and the toothless and the blind, who face their own trials and carry them, while the deaf are going blandly on under the impression that nobody knows they can barely hear a word."

So much for Margot's letter, I quote it because when you are old you are constantly meeting this trying situation. Not long ago at a dinner I was seated between two elderly and impressive men, both of whom had almost lost their hearing. After you pass a certain age you rarely escape the necessity of having to shout, when you are in a group of your contemporaries. "Deaf!" breathes the hostess tactfully, as she introduces. And you come home from the party exhausted.

Patience Wins

One woman solved this in the case of a small, dainty little mother of 80, who had been a beauty and a belle, and was pretending that a wig, dental replacements, strong glasses and almost total deafness had not descended upon her years before. An aurist had ascertained that with a small apparatus attached to a thin cord, she could hear perfectly. But she wouldn't use it.

The family, her daughter, her son-in-law—a man of 50 who wore a hearing aid—her granddaughter and grandson conspired to bring her to reason. They began to talk in normal tones, and when the old lady shrilly demanded to be let in on the conversation they answered her in normal tones. They kept it up.

When the daughter explained that they were all afraid that the effect of shouting and explaining would be bad for the family nerves Grandma demanded indignantly, "What shouting and screaming? You don't have to shout and scream at me," she said. "Just stop mumbling the way you've been doing. I'll hear you."

"Then we'll go on that way," said the daughter inflexible. And again they did. And in less than three weeks Grandma was not only wearing a hearing aid, but hearing perfectly, back in the family circle.

Children and May Belong Together

CALIFORNIA LAST WEEK

The Governor: His outstanding event of the week was participating in the welcoming ceremonies for General Douglas MacArthur at San Francisco, and appearance with the General the day after arrival; met with the Board of Regents, University of California at Davis, where the board discussed the advisability of taking its lost case on the loyalty oath against communists to the State Supreme Court if the Third District Court of Appeals refuses a hearing. Talked at a dedication at Travis Air Base, in Solano county, signed many unimportant bills, and made several minor appointments.

The Legislature: Senate Committee on Elections and Reapportionment sent out bills reapportioning the state into new congressional and assembly districts substantially the same as the bills came from the assembly, with 16 congressmen for southern and 14 for northern California. Speaker Sam Collins of the assembly said that the house is "away ahead" of its work, at least as compared to last year, a statement which could not, however, be construed as meaning an early adjournment in view of the fact that more bills are before the senate and assembly than ever before.

The assembly passed and sent on its way to the Governor the measure by Senator Verne Hoffman of San Joaquin county which closes portions of the lower Sacramento to commercial fishing.

Routine and technical bills filled most of the week, as the legislators paved the way for action by the senate on the state budget. Once the budget is on the Governor's desk, members will start thinking about winding up the session.

Jeff Students Try For Awards

Three Jefferson High School students this Friday will try for the Bank of America annual Achievement Awards

They are: Patricia Austring, fine arts; Robert Giorni, liberal arts; and Kathleen Johnston, vocational arts.

The students will meet with judges, and other competitors, at Redwood City.

Candidates in each general field will participate in a group discussion. The topic for discussion will be announced at the time the interview commences. Candidates and judges will be seated about a table in such arrangement as to permit free discussion. In front of each candidate will be a placecard bearing his name, enabling participants to identify each other and members of the Committee to identify candidates. (The meeting will not be open to the public.)

Grades and activities records of candidates will have been supplied to judges, and at the conclusion of each interview the five judges will independently rank all candidates. Ballots will be tabulated, and one winner will be chosen in each general field by the standard low point system. Winners will not be announced immediately, but will later be notified through their schools to attend the final San Francisco Bay Area Selection Event on May 23.

AFFAIRS OF STATE
by Henry C. MacArthur

(CNS)—Usually men who envision great public works have more than their share of trouble in getting things started. Senator Gerald O'Gara, of San Francisco, is finding this out in connection with his proposal for a San Francisco Bay Area Metropolitan rapid transit district.

The need for rapid transit in the Bay Area has been apparent for some years. As O'Gara pointed out, from a given point in San Francisco to some outlying point on the east side of the bay, it was actually faster to use the old abandoned ferry system than it is today with the modern San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge.

Some 76 communities, in nine San Francisco Bay Area counties—San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Alameda, Contra Costa, Solano, Napa, Sonoma, and Marin are involved.

O'Gara at the 1949 session of the legislature, won approval of an enabling act, providing for the formation of a rapid transit district in the nine counties, on vote of the people. But although two years have passed, no action has been taken for a vote of the people to form the district.

New Measure

The San Francisco Senator now has a measure, SB 549, providing for the creation of a San Francisco Bay Area rapid transit commission, which would act as a coordinating group, and get $50,000 of state money, if the bill is passed, to make studies, and "sell" the rapid transit idea to the people in the various counties.

When O'Gara's bill came before the Senate Transportation Committee, it encountered immediate opposition on the part of Senator Arthur H. Breed of Oakland, who declared he was opposed to the provision in the measure which called for legislators to be members of the commission.

After some heavy mumbo-jumbo on Breed's part, Senator Luther E. Gibson of Vallejo, whose Solano county is also involved, jumped into the fray and suggested that the five senators on the commitee from the counties involved get together and present a bill on which they were all agreed.

"It doesn't appear that we're ready," said Gibson, "to ask the state for money. We must come here with a united front to get anyplace with this bill."

Interest High

So Senator Randolph Collier, chairman, appointed Gibson, O'Gara, Breed, and Senators Dilworth of Riverside and Jesse Mayo of Calaveras, as a sub-committee of five. Senators Nathan Coombs of Napa and John F. McCarthy of Marin county, were not named to the committee.

The interest in getting started was emphasized before the transportation committee by supervisor W. M. Werder, of San Mateo county and Lee M. Roberts, assistant to the City Manager, Richmond, both of whom appeared in favor of the bill. Although they had little to say, both emphasized the need for starting work to solve the problem.

Breed's opinion, as expressed before the committee, was that the problems of transportation should be solved by San Francisco with its outlying counties on an individual basis, such as with the East Bay, the Peninsula and Marin and the areas to the north.

Yet as a report by O'Gara pointed out, the problem is all inclusive and should be dealt with as such.

Pinball Operators Attempt To Beat State's "Number Law" With Five Balls

MAY 3. (CNS) — California's one-ball pinball operators, who have reaped a harvest of nickels over the past years, are dusting off the machines declared illegal by Attorney General Edmund G. Brown and are about to put them in play again, with a diference.

The operators will try a scheme worked successfully in other states which barred one-ball devices, simply by adding four more balls and making them five-ball affairs.

The player operating one of the converted affairs inserts a nickel and as many more as necessary to build up the odds he wants. He then shoots four of the balls which are trapped in a slot at the top left of the machine.

The fifth ball is then played and, there being no more room in the slot, it becomes the "play" ball and rolls down into one of the pockets, usually the wrong one, according to the players.

The machines, more familiarly known as "Citation" and "Turf King" and a few more race track titles, were popular in California, but Brown ruled they were not games of skill and therefore, like the slot machines, illegal in this state.

The decision did not affect the five-ball machines which are not so popular and still to be found in taverns, restaurants and bus depots.

By adding the four additional balls, operators contend, the machines are within the law and cannot be touched unless all pinball devices are ruled illegal.

The highlight of the day was an educational fashion show demonstrated by Mrs. Ruth Mayo and her serving class. The complete course of dress making was illustrated, ending with the finished garment modeled by each seamstress.

The tea service hostess, Mrs. George Parson, skillfully arranged the table with May pole motif and a delicious chocalate sheet cake expressing "Good Luck" for the new president.

The executive board members holding their meeting at the home of Mrs. George Freeland, enjoyed a "Pot Luck" luncheon at which time Mrs. Dolly Gensel, who is leaving our fair city, received many lovely hankies which were given to her as a farewell surprise.

Council Authorizes Library Commission

City Attorney Frank B. Blum was authorized by the City Council at the April 30 meeting to draft an ordinance creating a Library Commission composed of three citizen members.

The functions of the commission, which will be appointed by the mayor with the consent of the council, will be to administer the library and plan for a new main library and branches elsewhere in the city to keep pace with the expanding population.

The present library has been improved by the enlarging of the children's room. It also has additional heat and light now.

In event of atomic attack, unorganized mass evacuation must be prevented, warns Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, State Civil Defense Director. The care program has been carefully worked out. If attack comes, stay put until told to move.

The pioneer student body officers are: Lenita Johnson, president; Dick Hopman, vice-president; Carol Glover, secretary; Shirley Evans, treasurer; Pat Long and Richard Watso, School representatives; Linda Amundsen and Billy Willers, Sergeant-at-arms; James Snell, safety chairman; Carolyn Saumer and Elaine Ball, school pianist.

Student Council

Members of the Student Council are: Donna Carlisle and Jim Rector, Room 1; Kay Wright and Harold Funkhouser, Room 2; Pat Long and Richard Watso, Room 3; Jackie Hansen and Bob Giomi, Room 4; Jimmie Blessingame and James Selsor, Room 5; Patricia Michelsen and Myron Kay, Room 6; Marilyn Aiello and Ronald Cryer, Room 7; Laverne Nannini and Donald Wiesner, Room 8.

The seventh grade in Room 7 is busy preparing for Public School Week. In arithmetic they are studying areas of rectangles and triangles, also, they are finding the circumferences of circles. In science they are studying what foods can do, how to choose your food, how much to eat and what foods are the right foods.

Room 8

The Junior Museum is growing each day. Thus far the "live stock" is: 3 Garter Snakes, 2 Lizards, dozens of Pollywogs and a few frogs. The museum is cared for and arranged by Dick Stookey and Dan Tomlinson. Carol Hansen and her cousin, Don Wiesner, brought the two lizards from their grandparents ranch. The class is busy now in final preparation for Public Schools Week. The Social Studies notebooks are the chief objective for their display of individual work.

Room 4 is making preparations for Public Schools Week. Papers are being sorted and plans for the display are being made. In Social Studies we are now studying Greece and learning how democracy really began here over two-thousand years ago.

The students of the seventh grade in Room 6 are studying about Africa, the "Dark Continent." It is called this because the people of Europe and America knew almost nothing about the great interior of Africa until recent times.

The seventh and eighth grades listened to MacArthur's speech on Thursday, April 19th. Many of the pupils went down town to see and hear him on Wednesday, the 18th, taking an unofficial holiday.

Mr. Mongan, vice-principal of the Jefferson Union High School, came on April 18th, to tell the graduates something about their courses at high school.

COLMA SCHOOL

Room Two:

The pupils in room two have been bringing in snakes, lizards, and frogs to watch. They keep them in large jars. The other day they watched a snake eat four frogs. The last one was quite a big frog and the snake had a hard time eating it.

Other people in the class have been making friezes of sea pictures suggested by John Masefield's poem "Sea-Fever."

Room Six:

The students of the seventh grade in room six are studying the parts and work of flowers. They have made illustrations showing the parts of a flower.

In health the students are studying about the physiology of digestion.

Room Eight:

The pupils of room eight have been preparing for Open House quite eagerly. Individual folders were made on a long term project which terminated last week. These are in conjunction with their social science and contain brief essays of each country studied. Illustrations are also in the folders to make them interesting and colorful. The folders are complete from the attractive colored covers to the table of contents.

The bulletin board committee has done a splendid job and has decorated the boards with dark green bordered with chartreuse. The four smaller boards contain written work with examples of spelling, language, and mathematics. The large back board contains pencil sketches prepared by the pupils in their art class. The pictures follow the social studies theme of "European Countries." James Bagoshian has made ink drawings illustrating the various people of the world which are excellent.

CROCKER AND COLMA OPEN HOUSE

Public School Week Open House proved a success at the Crocker and Colma School on both Tuesday and Wednesday nights respectively. Throngs of interested parents, teachers, and members of the Board of Trustees visited the schools to see the work done by students.

A particularly heavy emphasis das noted on the fundamentals, not just in rote written work but in an activated program where interest was stimulated by showing the visual result of an area of experience. Tuesday and Wednesday nights alone were not the only time that the schools were happy to receive visitors, because at intervals during the week, many parents who found it inconvenient to visit the school on the night set aside for the convenience of working parents did find a cordial welcome at other times.

Eeigth Grade

On Tuesday, May 1, some of the Colma School eighth grade, Room 1, are to present a program and model the results of their "Homemaking" class. The narrator is to be Marilyn Jones. Carolyn Saumer and Donna Carlisle will demonstrate how to lay and cut a blouse pattern, while Diane Valentino will demonstrate the use of appliances on a sewing machine. Marlene Logelin will show how to thread a machine.

Modeling garments they have made will be: Carol Glover and Peggy Sorensen, who will model what the "well-dressed" teen-ager wears before taking her nightly jaunt to "Slumber Land"; Margaret Runge will model the blouse and skirt she wears to folk dancing; while Darlene Haynes will model her corduroy weskit and skirt, which is what the well-dressed girl wears daily!

Gallagher Marches While Goose Trio Entertain Party

One of the more novel features of this Sunday's Spring Festival parade will be a gentleman by name of Gallagher, dressed like Charley Chaplain with a hangover.

As the informed know, Gallagher has a more than pasing connection with the 6630 Club, at the same address on Mission St. In a manner of speaking, he is the bartender in the joint.

The little gentleman, derby, cane, mustache and all will give parade viewers a take off on the great comedian which some say rivals the job done by Gloria Swanson in a recent movie.

Meanwhile, Gallagher had an opportunity to show off his talents at a recent barbecue given at the home of Manuel and Louise Schaffino at 71 Miriam street. And this was no easy job, especially as there was another entertaining group around, better known as the Goose Gander Trio. However, Gallagher managed to hold his own.

Those who wined and dined at the party included Mr. and Mrs: Louie Soccio, Herman Gander, Glen Meinzer, John Walker, Nick Gallagher and Ronnie Carson. Doing a single were Miss Pat Gallagher and Vince Gonzalez, Peter Oby and Red Maguire.

While the others proceeded to drink and eat the Schaffinos out of house and home, The Goose Gander Trio entertained. Members of this novel group include Crab Louie Soccio on the violin, Glen Meinzer on the guitar, and just about anyone on the accordian.

Rumor has it that the Trio may accompany Gallagher in Sunday's parade.

DC Couple Donate 17 Pints Of Blood

Waging a one-family blood donation campaign are Daly City's Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hanley of 43 Woodrow Street, who have given 17 pints of blood to the San Mateo County Blood Bank.

Recently Mrs. Hanley made her 10th donation while her husband was making his seventh donation, according to a Blood Bank release.

Other Daly City residents donating blood were the Rev. Homer A. Dickinson and Wilben Grieves, second donation, and Russell W. Sellman, Thomas Jones, Ed Amundsen, and Henry Bortoli.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

What A Paper From Home Means To A PFC

Dear Sir:

I have been receiving your paper for the past few weeks, and I would like to tell you how much I appreciate your sending it to me.

It sure is a pleasure to read about the home town and keep up with the local news.

I just wanted to tell you that it is swell of you to do this. (Ed. Note: The pleasure is all ours.)

At present, I am attending aircraft sheet metal school at Chanute. Everything is fine, and I should be home on leave sometime around the first of August.

Well, so long; and thank you, very much.

Sincerely,
Pfc. Tom Pagni

Prize Orator

Jeff Senior Enters Finals

Al Johnson, senior at Jefferson Union High school, will compete in the public speaking contest conducted by Lions International at the district meeting at Hoberg's Resort May 6.

Al won the local contest before the Daly City-Colma Lions Club. He then won the decision over other speakers in a zone contest. In the regional event, Jefferson's ace speaker again rated at the top. This qualified him for the district contest at Hoberg's. The student body, the San Mateo County Lions Clubs and his other friends will be rooting for Al.

The subject for the speaker this year is "The American Voter's Responsibility." Johnson has written a fine paper and his delivery is unusually good. Win or lose the community has a right to be proud of their representative.

Gil O'Shaughnessy, president of the local club has shown a keen interest in the contest and is an enthusiastic supporter of the club's representative.

Miss Eunice Seaton, of the Jefferson High School faculty, is Johnson's teacher and coach.

The Record's Star Moves To Lone Star State

Texas' gain is our loss.

Mrs. Verna Calderon, an employee of the Record for the past six years, has joined her husband, Ray, who is stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

The couple left Daly City Friday, April 27, for their new home. Ray was home on a 15-day furlough.

They spent one night of their journey with Frank and Doris Rehe, formerly of Daly City, in San Diego. Frank is a motor mechanic first class, USN, stationed there.

Officially Verna's title was general clerk for the Record, but actually she did everything but sell papers on the corner. Some of her duties were taking ads, handling circulation, bookkeeping, reading proof, etc.

Verna began work here in June 1945, although she had worked part-time for the previous two years. Her duties have been taken over by June Lemon, who has worked here part time collecting.

The basic principles of Civil Defense are self-help and mutual aid, declares Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, California State Director.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

For I'm to be Queen of the May, Mother, I'm to be Queen of the May!

Spring's most ethereal day-dream for little girls is set forth in this old poem, that many mothers will remember. No little girl has ever lived, at least in our country, who has not visualized herself in the stellar role, gowned in regal white satin with a golden crown upon her head, surrounded by her entourage, and being applauded and admired by crowds of people. It would be something to conjecture with even for an adult, but for a little girl—it is an experience the like of no other.

My admiration goes out to the mothers of our town, who this week will have a big part in making this dream a beautiful reality. In maintaining a sense of humor and patience through fittings and rehearsals, and keeping excitement down to a reasonable level, they are, perhaps inadvertently, teaching their children one of the most important tenents of successful enterprise, developing confidence and poise at the same time.

The May Festival and Parade to be presented this Sunday will represent outstanding effort on the part of so many, who are happy to be a part of Daly City's tribute to Spring, Youth, Good Citizenship, and of course her Royal Highness—The Queen!

WHY MOTHERS GROW GRAY:

Little Maryann Laramie, daughter if the Tom Laramies, 57 West Cavour, recovering from an attack of Rubeola (Measles) and just in time too! For she will be the Queen this year!

A casualty of the FOE Aux. Drill Team was Myra Laws, who severely wrenched her ankle last week and will not be among this smart contingent as they make their debut Sunday in their brilliant new outfits. . . . Captain Rosyln Adams, achieving what could be called PERFECTION, as the big day draws near. . . .

Members of the Daly City Garden Club, who hope to create a stage setting befitting her Royal Highness, planning on a six a.m. "coffee dunk." Clad in overalls and warm jackets, the indomitable crew will brave the chill dawn to put the set together, which was designed by Mrs. H. S. Garrison.

Eager young Hucks and daughters of the D. C. Sportswomen's Club will have an edge on all the fun, as they cast and retrieve fish from the Pool on the Club's Float. . . . So far they have come up with some pretty ingenious ideas. . . . But there will be fish. . . .

OH MY YES!

Much activity at Bellevue and Pershing Halls as junior folk dancers rehearse for their Sunday recital which will include the Russian Hopak (MMMM Is dis good?) and the Virginia Reel (Ahh).

DOUBLE DATING:

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dolan, seen last week at the Hankerson-Gregori Nuptials at St. Emydius, were observing the anniversary of their own wedding date, falling by happen-stance on the same date as nephew Richard Hankerson—Arriving with them was Mrs. Dolan's charming sister, Mrs. Frank de Losa of Garden Village. Also on hand for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheehan. Greeting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheehan was Mrs. Wm. Drury Sr. and her lovely daughter Nancy, who is the twin sister of "best man" Bill Drury. . . .

CITATION:

Capturing the Courtesy award was "Muni man-of-the-month," Ed Newlon, who pilots the Mission St. "express" to and from our fair city. Mr. Newlon, who lives at 253 Victoria, is also the Scoutmaster of Ocean View Scout Troop No. 50. Although his own boys are almost grown up, he nevertheless has time for conscientious effort in behalf of the boys, who rate him as "tops." It is felt that Wheelock Bingham, of the Downtown Association, never presented the Award to a more deserving person than Ed. . . .

COMING OUT PARTY:

And everyone in town last Friday must have, for the joint opening of the Westlake Town and Country Food Mart, and Henry Doelgers Apartment Prevue. Jam-packed with cars bumper to bumper, people teeming all over the place and standing in long buy-lines for bargains. Everywhere baskets of beautiful flowers in a congratulatory note. . . . Music by jingling cash registers, and here and there Bab Orchids worn by early arrivers . . . with ladies-come-lately vainly trying to find the source of supply. . . . Flash-bulbs popping, and a general carnival atmosphere prevailing, with kiddies (a few lost) eagerly accepting favors and souvenirs. . . Over all myriad searchlights brightly stabbing the sky, accented with a fireworks display. . . . Over in Broadmoor, Western Auto's debut, also a brilliant onem, had the same gigantic, capacity crowd on hand to take advantage of all the bargains. . . .

BAG AND BAGGAGE:

Irene and Al Rosenburg, with son Jerry, of 973 Brunswick, are making plans for a June transferral, to a new home in Westlake.

SWITCHEROO:

Seated next to Mr. Richard Ennis at the recent Mission Merchants conclave, was none other than Mrs. Elmer (Mayor) Robinson. His popular and capable wife, Valetta, was left at home for a change, while he wined and dined with S. F.'s first lady.

ROMANCE:

Culminating a romance that began the last summer session at S. F. State College, word comes of the wedding of Xandra Jorgenson, daughter of the Clarence Jorgensons of S. F. to Bob Seiler whose parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Seiler are local residents. The nuptials took place at Calvary Presbyterian Church in South Pasadena, with Dr. Morty officiating.

For the Candlelight ceremony, the bride chose a white suit, with which she wore a hat of natural straw, with veiling and accessories in burnt orange. She was attended by best friend, Barbara Falk, who flew down with both sets of parents from San Francisco, joined the bride and groom's parents in their flight from San Francisco. Acting as usher was Allen Seiler, nephew of the groom, who secured leave from the U. S. Air Corp Base, located nearby. Following the reception, held at the home of the Warren Billings in South Pasadena, the newly-weds left for a honeymon in Arrowhead Springs.

Upon their return they will take up residence in S. Pasadena, where Bob recently was appointed as Supt. of Recreation (parks and schools). A graduate of Jefferson High, Bob was also a former assistant Director in Recreation for Daly City and his many friends here will wish him happiness and success in his double venture. . .

FOOTNOTES ON FOLK-DANCING:

Daly City's "Calico Clickers" journeyed to Pleasanton last week, where they put on the exhibition at the Old Hearst Ranch, dressed in their bright colored, three-tiered calico skirts, and wearing solid colored blouses to match the men's shirts, this talented group did Daly City proud. They will be heard this Sunday over K.S.F.O. at nine thirty a.m. when the Hearst Ranch program is aired, so—Be a-listenin.'

Muriel Pabst, popular instructor of these groups announces that Adult Beginners are being welcomed at the Friday evening classes at Castle Hall, 7339 Mission St., which start at 8 p.m.

APRIL IN PARIS:

A true Bohemian atmosphere and Parisian influence was achieved to perfection last Saturday afternoon, when the Mothers Club of O.L.P.H. chalked up another superb affair, with their "April in Paris" Luncheon. Nearly three hundred bon vivants (ladies) came out to enjoy the combined efforts of the TWA Travel Service, the imaginaitve genuis of the individual chairmen, and plain hard work by the members which made up the grand total of its success.

Little potted trees with gold and silver branches, sprouting miniature "Paris hats" centered the pastel topped tables, and were the objects of much admiration. They were designed and made by the versatile Marion Balestrari. French menus as well as flacons of French perfume were flown over from Paris by T.W.A. especially for the occasion! At each place were individual cigarette packs and tiny candy corsages. European travel posters decked the walls and baskets of callas flanked either side of the stage. In the foreground was a huge novelty scene of the airlines landing field, presumably in Paris. These effects were the work of Miss Barbara Farr and Jim Finnegan, two very pleasing representatives from TWA who also ran a colored film of France, with many scenes of the nation's capital, Paris.

Following the excellent French cuinsine, under the direction of ma chere (!) Janet Feldman, the program got underway with Valetta Ennis emceeing.

She introduced Miss Jean Kelly, danseuse, who beautifully executed an authentic French Cambodian Fan Dance, encoring with a sensitive interpretation of "Song of India." Former Opera personality Bill Kerr sang several selections to represent France, Italy and Ireland. Bring everyone back to the U.S.A. in double quick time, were the contingent of "Sweet Adeline Singers" who rendered several jivy renditions well canculated to condition the listeners back to their original environment.

Many lovely prizes were drawn for and guests were allowed to take away the novelty centerpieces. Travel folders for special Flights being maintained for Paris' celebration of her 2000th Anniversary were on hand, and marked the finale to a very enjoyable event.

Presbyterian Growth Noted

A membership increase of 34% by Presbyterian Churches in the San Francisco Bay Area in the 1940-50 period was revealed recently at the regular meeting of the San Francisco Presbytery, held in Park Blvd. Church in Oakland.

The report, which comes as the conclusion of a survey made in the Bay Area noted the population of San Francisco alone has increased 20% in the same period, an increase only somewhat less than the increase in Church membership.

The survey went on to report the organization and building of fifteen new churches in the corresponding period, in addition to many new building projects for churches needing enlarged plants for expanding programs.

The predominant membership growth in San rancisco followed the population increase by occurring in the Westlake-Broadmoor area.

Dr. Ronald T. White, General Presbyter of the north coastal area for the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., announced the coming of Dr. Louis Evans of Hollywood to speak to a bay area gathering of Presbyterians on May 11 at First Presbyterian Church of Berkeley.

This meeting will seek to set up promotional machinery with which to effectively meet the growing challenge presented by current population trends.

"Roseacre" Holds Rose Show Sunday

The fifth annual rose show and tea of the San Mateo County Rose Society will be held this coming Sunday afternoon from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. at "Roseacre" the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill A. Newman, 863 Chiltern Road, Hillsborough.

Mrs. Florence Cornell, president of the rose society, and Harry Gunderson, general chairman of the show, advise that plans are now complete, programs are ready and judges have been selected. It is expected that this years event, modeled after an English garden show, will be the finest the rose society has staged.

A pre-showday visit to the fabulous rose gardens discloses that the buds seem to be "holding their breath" so to speak, ready to burst forth in time for Sunday. Iva Newman, mistress of "Roseacre" known far and wide as the "rose lady" can be seen in the gardens from dawn until dusk, seeing to the grooming of the blooms for their May 6th debut.

Leading retail florists of San Mateo County as well as garden clubs and flowers societies will be represented. This is in addition to the specimen blooms, arrangements, etc., by the members of the rose society.

The almost 3000 rose bushes growing at "Roseacre" will afford visitors interested in adding to their rose plants, an oportunity to observe how the varieties of their choice perform under the weather and soil conditions of this section of the country.

Nearly every variety listed in the catalogs of growers and nurserymen in California is grown in this garden which has become iegendary. Among the hundreds are "Charlotte Armstrong," "Show Girl," "High Noon," "Taffeta," "China Doll," "Applause," "Forty Niner," and others.

In addition to the sweepstakes prize, the Joyce LaVurn Newman Memorial Bowl, there will be numerous medals and certificates awarded. The public has a hand in judging "rose arrangements" entered by garden clubs and florists.

Both Skyline Blvd. and El Camino Real will be well marked so out-of-town visitors will know where to turn off the highway. Arrows will guide visitors through Hillsborough to "Roseacre."

Friends Honor Mrs. John A. Glasse At Silver Tea Last Friday Afternoon

by Diane Daly

A truly distinctive event of the Spring season was the Silver Tea held last Friday afternoon at the charming suburban home of Mrs. Hugh S. Falconer in Garden Village.

The hostess received guests attired in a pretty black lace formal and presented the honor guest, Mrs. John A. Glasse (to those with whom she was not acquainted) who wore a formal length model in light coral.

Given over to the Antique Collection, were several upstairs rooms, where guests were able to observe a very notable group of items, some three hundred years old. A second floor bedroom, done in white organdy, was suitable foil for the intriguing collection of dolls with authentic heads, which were dressed down to the last detail in period styles ranging from 1848 to 1878. These were designed and made by Mrs. Eunice J. Eaton of 1331 22nd Ave., San Francisco. Also shown in that room were some very fine examples of neckwear, which were the fashion some one hundred years ago. Stoles, capes, jet beaded accessories and even fine lace mantillas, these latter items the property of Mrs. Falconer.

The spacious pine panelled room at the top of the house, which I understand is normally the exclusive headquarters of Mrs. Falconers two sons, was converted into a gallery with tables setting forth displays of old books, rare China, heirloom jewelry and Old Silver to name a few. In one corner could be seen two very old genuine Paisley Shawls, hand woven from Scotland. A very lovely shawl in black velvet with jet black glossy embroidery was still in excellent condition despite its age.

Lovely Quilts

Covering each twin bed were hand made quilts which were done with painstaking care and in exquisite design by Mrs. Warren Baker. One was the well known Yo-Yo pattern, and the others "Pond Lily" and "Colonial" in lovely pastels. Several very old clocks were also in evidence.

Presiding over all was Mrs. Howard Neilson, 728 Midway, who personally modeled the still lovely old creme challis wedding dress which was worn originally by Mrs. Rev. Glasse's mother, Anna Mary Howell, ne Wilkerson, way back in 1890. Mrs. Neilson, with her fair haid upswept in the mode of that period, brought forcibly to mind the beauty, grace and culture of an earlier day.

Downstairs, the "Pitchpipers," a choral group composed of Esle Faust, Carol Freeland, Audrey Graff and Memory Gomez, presented many songs for the assembled guests. Grouped together they made a pretty picture, with their matching frocks of orchid silk with purple velvet belts and neckbands caught with lavender shaded daisies.

In the dining room of the Falconer home, the table, set with a white drawn linen cloth, was centered with Spring flowers and lighted yellow tapers held in silver candelebra. Emily Hager poured coffee from a lovely antique silver coffee service and while M. Pauline Brown presided over the tea service. Varieties of finger sandwiches and miniature cookies were served by many pleasant assistants, and the entire affair is one to remember.

The scholarship is available to any adult interested in nature and wild life and who is willing to share his experiences after attending the Audubon Camp. Applicants do not need to be volunteer group leaders, teachers or club members although all are encouraged to apply.

The Hillsborough Garden Club has delegated the responsibility for the designation of the scholarship to the Group Work Section of the Council of Social Agencies. Korean Wounded Need Three Pints Of Blood

Each seriously wounded American military man must have three pints of blood if he is to be given the chance of recovery.

This is the word received today by the San Mateo County Blood Bank from Washington, D. C.

The Red Cross Blood Donor Campaign has met with good response here in past weeks, but now, with the increased tempo of warfare in Korea, attended by ever increasing lists of critically wounded men, more local citizens must volunteer as donors or the quota assigned for San Mateo County will fall behind, according to Mrs. Henry Bostwick Jr., blood donor chairman for the Red Cross.

The donors spend but a few minutes of time at the county blood bank where, under direction of a trained staff, blood is drawn and processed for shipment overseas.

Those of our citizens who desire to show patriotism to the fullest extent by becoming blood donors for the purpose of saving lives of our sons, fathers and brothers on the battlefield, should immediately telephone the Red Cross at DI. 3-4561 or Emerson 6-3851.

"April In Paris" Luncheon, Variety Show Highlights OLPH Mothers' Club Activities

by Isabelle Liberti

One of the highlights of the year's activities was the luncheon and variety show given by the Mothers' Club of Our Lady of Perpetual Help School Saturday, April 28.

"April in Paris" was the chosen theme and by 1 o'clock the school auditorium was filled by such an attractive crowd of club members and their guests that one could easily imagine being in the fashion capital of the world.

The setting for the luncheon was very cleverly done, the stage with its fuschia colored back drops covered with large travel posters was flanked with tall baskets of lilies. Massive bowls of purple, white and yellow iris and purple lilacs completed the floral arrangements. Around the walls were more travel posters arranged by the TWA Airlines. These were so colorful that many eyed them speculatively, no doubt estimating their effect as a wall decoration at home! The tables, however, were the eye-catchers. Laid with pastel cloths, each was centered with a plant in a colored container but instead of the usual blossoms, on the branches perched the most adorable hats imaginable. Turbans, feathered tocques, veiled cloches, bridesmaid hats, flowered, beribboned and veiled, one could hardly believe their origin was a lowly muffin cup. What woman can resist the appeal of a spring bonnet and this midget millinery was no exception.

Plants Given Away

The guests were so enchanted with these gay little centerpieces that in order to keep everyone happy, numbers were drawn and the "plants" given away. Not one was left and the chairman was forced to express regrets to the many more who wanted these darling souveniers. Mrs. Joseph Balesteri and her committee received much praise for their decorating duties so well done.

With background music furnished by records from the DeLeon Music store, Mrs. Charles McDougal and her crew of hostesses served a most delicious luncheon which according to the souvenier menu, also furnished by TWA, consisted of "Bouchees a la Reine—Petits pais a la Francaise—Petits pain et Buerre — creme Glacee — Petits Gateaux Secs and Cafe." Being able to translate only "cafe' one patiently waited and found that the luncheon consisted of "chicken a la King, Peas, Rolls and butter, home-made cookies, ice cream and coffee. A luncheon by any other name tastes as sweet, so one can understand the thunderous handclap given Mrs. Janet Fellman and her kitchen aids, which Mrs. Fellman pronounced the best ever.

After the luncheon, Mis Barbara C. Farr of the TWA Airlines, spoke briefly of her recent trip to Europe and won all with her flashing smile and dimples and after viewing the TWA color films of France and Paris, we all mentally packed our suitcases for a TWA trip to France, Rome, Portugal and Madrid.

Coming back to our every-day world of school, budgets, bands on teeth, report cards and formulas, we learned that Mrs. Mary Kelly was richer by $35, having won this amount while we were mentally admiring the beach wear at Cannes and Monte Carlo.

Miss Jean Kelly of the Jean Kelly Dancing Studio then entertained the guests with her exotic French-Cambodian dance. Follwing this number, Mr. Andrew Kerr took the guests on a song tour to France by singing an aria from "Manon" and to Italy with "O Marie" and you-know-where with "I'll take you home again, Kathleen."

Miss Kelly's next number was a French-Hindu dance done to the "Song of India" and was followed by the "Sweet Adelines." The quartette of young women were a Barbershop group. Since Barbershop harmony is distinctly an American product, we knew we were back in the good old U.S.A. The Sweet Adelines have performed locally and on television, and judging from the audience response to their versions of "Balling the Jack" and "When you and I were Sweet Sixteen" we will hear more from this group.

Exotic Dance

Mrs. Valetta Ennis, who arranged all the entertainment, handled her emceeing duties with her usual finese and was kept busy after the affair acknowledging many compliments. She faced the "mike" like a seasoned trooper, and after expressing President Mary Calegari's gratitude toward her hard-working committee and "thank you" to the many guests, gifted seventy-five lucky ladies with lively novelties, collected by Mrs. Hans Schroeder who was the chairman in charge of these door prizes. Those of us who were not so lucky were consoled when Miss Farr presented each lady present with a tiny square bottle of perfume from Suzanne Thierry, Paris, France.

Mrs. Ennis then led the group in a prayer for world peace and thus brought to a close "April in Paris" the Mothers' Club third Annual luncheon, to take its place along with the many other successful affairs which have been sponsored by the Mothers' Club.

Poppies Arrive At Legion Home

Poppies which everyone in Daly City will be asked to wear in honor of America's war dead on Poppy Day, May 26, have arrived at the American Legion Home from Veterans Hospital where they were made by disabled war veterans.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary were busy this week counting and sorting the little red flowers in preparation for Poppy Day. Baskets, in which the volunteer workers will carry the flowers, and the coin containers, in which they will receive contributions, were being made ready. The work was being directed by Mrs. P. D. Bordson, Unit 410, Auxiliary Poppy Chairman.

"The poppies are crepe-paper replcas of the wild poppies which bloomed 'between the crosses, row on row,' in the war cemeteries in France and Belgium," Mrs. Bordson exlained. "Each one has been shaped by hand by some disabled veteran at Palo Alto Veterans Hospital. Each one is slightly different, but each carried the same message, 'Honor the dead and aid the disabled.'

"We are getting the flowers ready for the volunteer workers from the Auxiliary and cooperating organizations who will distribute them on the streets on Poppy Day. We hope that everyone will be proud to wear a poppy this year in tribute to those who have given their lives for our country, and will contribute as generously as they can for the welfare of the disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

"Since all Auxiliary workers are unpaid, the entire amount of the contributions they collect on Poppy Day goes into the funds which support Legion and Auxiliary activities for disabled veterans and for child welfare. Most of the money will remain in our local funds to aid local veterans and their families during the coming year."

New Regulations For Public Hunting On Waterfowl Areas To Be Adopted

Streamlined regulations for public hunting on State-operated waterfowl management areas will be adopted by the California Fish and Game Commission when it meets May 25 in the State Building, San Francisco.

Among the proposed changes recommended by the Division of Fish and Game are new regulations which would:

Close all areas on Christmas and New Year's Day: require duck hunting stamps of all hunters over 16 year of age: make regulations apply to both Federal and State lands; provide for use during "split seasons;"

Allow hunters aged 16 or over admission without chaperon; make unauthorized entry a trespass at all times; prohibit the tacking of fish or wildlife except waterfowl; clarify registration procedure; provide shooting on the Imperial unit every day except Christmas and New Year's; set a deadline of 2 P.M. for issuance of permits for following day;

Permit use of any legal gauge shotgun and shell: establish local ground rules; provide for hunting or separated areas; establish maximum number of shooters with provision for replacements.

The Division of Fish and Game minds California sportsmen of the following general regulations which apply to current hunting and fishing.

Jeff Merman Sets New League Record

Jefferson High's Norm Cady and Sequoia High's Paul Kamada, swimming in different heats at the PAL swimming trials at Jefferson last Thursday, set a new record in the Class B 50-yard free style event.

The two mermen were clocked at the identical time of :25.6, and unless bettered in the finals tomorrow, they will be co-holders of the league record. The old mark was :26.3.

Another loop record was bettered in the trials when Palo Alto High's John Bradford swam the 200-yard free style in 2:07.2 to knock out the old mark of 2:03.4.

Jeff Nine Battles Palo Alto Nine In "Game of the Year"

Indians Base First Place Hope On Ed Cereghini

Weather permitting, Jefferson High battles Palo Alto High on the latter's diamond tomorrow, May 4, in what shapes up to be the "game of the year" in the PAL.

If the Jeffs take this one they would jump into a first place tie with the Vikings, and possibly with San Mateo and Sequoia.

Palo Alto has racked up five straight wins this season, to become the only undefeated nine in the league.

The Indians will base their hopes on Ed Cereghino who has posted a 3-1 record. In his last outing Cereghino handed San Mateo its first loop setback with a two-hit whitewash job, Friday at San Mateo.

It was Cereghino's booming bat, also, that paced the 4-0 Jeff win. In the third frame when Gene Lorenzo and Leo Gianecchini reached base after being hit by pitched balls, Cereghino clouted a tremendous three-run homer into deep center field.

The Daly City nine scored in the first on a Bearcat boner. Charlie Donley led off with a base on balls, took second on a sacrifice, and third on a wild pitch. When Lorenzo fanned for the second out, the Bearcat infield, for some reason or another, began peppering the ball around. The ball got away from them, and Donley checked in with a gift run.

Cereghino had complete control of the game from the mound. He struck out 14 batters, while walking none.

"The biggest and best whist party Daly City has ever had!"

That's what the combined organizations of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church are planning for the night of Friday, May 18. The party will be held at the school auditorium, 60 Wellington Street, starting at 8 p.m. sharp.

Tickets to the whist are on sale at the parish house, or may be obtained from members of the committee.

The committee under the direction of Father William Stewart includes Chairman William Whalen, Elias Wille, Roy Thomson, Mary Calageri, Ruth Crest, Bob Lucier, Isabel Liberti, Joe Powers Bill Barrington, Richard Ennis, Sue Schroeder, Valleta Ennis and Tess Sullivan.

OLPH Edges Jeff In Softball, 1-0

by Erle Johnson

In a game played at Marchbanks Park on April 26, O.L.P.H. outlasted Jefferson and came out on the long end of a 1-0 score. The game was by far the best game of this season and it was just the difference of a break and quick thinking on the part of the winners that made the difference in the score.

Fontana scored the only run in the game, but Garry Baker got the best hit of the day when he blasted a long triple deep into left field. Jefferson had the bases filled at one time, but they failed to score. The pitching of both Machado and Rocchi was very good, especially for an elementary school league.

In the other game of the week Colma's Blue team defeated the Red's easily. Gruenwald's nine was too much for the Reds. Perpetual Help will have to be on their toes when they meet this team, because they are getting better every game.

The OLPH girls team and the Colma Girls team will again meet on the Marchbanks Diamond in a play-off game. If you will remember, the two teams play a 12-member the two teams played a 12-12 tie last week and are anxious to clear this, one way or the other. The game is scheduled for Wednesday.

Hurlbut Family Greets New Boy

Mrs. Walther Hurlburt, 173 San Diego, returned from Sacramento last week after visiting with her son, Raymond Hurlubut, and her new boy grandchild.

The grandchild, the third for the Hurlbut family, arrived April 15 and weighed in at 9 pounds 3 ounces.

Mrs. Hurlbut spent a week with her new grandchild and daughter-in-law.

Meanwhile, just the week before, Mrs. Joephine Kables of Seaside, Oregon, visited Mrs. Hurlbut in Daly City. Mrs. Kables is Mrs. Hurlbut's mother, and great grandmother to the new arrival in Sacramento.

ON THE OTHER HAND...

By Bob Quinlan

Representatives of seven West Coast independent colleges have been negotiating recently with the ultimate goal an independent college conference.

The colleges proposed to make up this conference are College of the Pacific, University of San Francisco, Santa Clara University, St. Mary's College, San Jose State College, University of Nevada, and Loyola University.

The main topic of the discussion now is the formation of a basketball lop. That is why St. Mary's is entered into the picture. The Gaels have dropped football and baseball.

Basketball, unlike the other sports, has a good change to become organized into a league because there would be a definite goal in winning the championship. That goal is an invitation to participate in the western regionals of the NCAA Tournament in Kansas City.

At the present the tournament selects the outstanding independent college from the coast to be one of the teams at large to participate, and it would be little trouble to make it automatic that the new league's champs enter the tourney.

The fact is that they probably would be tickled to death to have it this way. No longer would they need to check the records of all the teams before making the selection, and still be afraid of stepingp on someone's toes.

Say that last season USF and COP had good records. How could they select the right team since they did not meet each other? A league would cure that.

It appears that this would be an ideal setup for all parties concerned.

Another important aspect of the situation, however, has not yet been discussed. And that is attendance.

Frank Walsh staged at the Cow Palace at the tail end of last season a mythical independent college tourney between USF, St. Mary's, Santa Clara, and San Jose State. Financially the tourney was a flop.

Yet imagine that the tourney decided the conference champions and meant an automatic bid to play in the NCAA Tournament. It would be a "natural" for crowd-appeal.

One thing that this league would have, which most leagues do not have, is even strength among all teams. Last season San Jose State, who represented the western independents in the NCAA tournament, was the strongest of the group. Yet they dropped games to both USF and Santa Clara.

The only thing that stands in the way of organizing the loop is the rift between Nevada and St. Mary's and San Jose State.

A few years ago Spartan Coach Walt McPherson announced that he was dissastisfied with the treatment his team received in Reno, and that he would not bring another San Jose State team there. Just this past season the same situation appeared again, and Gael Mentor Tom Foley severed relations with the Wolfpack.

This problem could be overcome by the conference if it sets up standards for all teams to play under.

Football, on the other hand, is a different story. One team, St. Mary's is eliminated, there is no post season game for the title in the offing, and there is a definite weak sister in Nevada.

Santa Clara is the stumbling block when it comes to organizing a football loop, and maybe you can't blame them. It would mean calling off intersectional games with colleges like Tulane, Rice, Oklahoma, etc.

The Broncos have gained prestige in football that is rivaled by none of the others. They have little trouble gaining major bowl bids when they have good years.

Santa Clara, however, is taking a selfish attitude towards the situation. Although they would not gain as much as the others, they would not lose anything either. The receipts they lose in not playing one of their intersectionals would be made up by the increased attendance in games with independents they normally play anyway.

Right now an independent college football conference looks doomed, while a basketball loop may develop soon. The schools would be foolish not to unite.

Reports from the Bay Area college spring practice fields show that they are stocked with good quarterbacks this season.

Stanford has Gary Karkorian and Dick Horn back for another year, and USF has once again the services of Ed Brown, backed ably by Bill Henneberry.

Rage of the Santa Clara camp is Johnny Pasco. The erratic Pasco, who showed signs of brilliancy in past seasons, seems to have hit his stride and may pull the Broncos through their tough schedule.

San Jose State has come up with a sleeper in the QB post. Bob Brozan has unveiled Jerry Hamilton, who shared field general duties at St. Mary's two years ago. Hamilton was one of the most promising local sophomores when with the Gaels, but dissatisfied with the athletic situation, he dropped out.

He lost one year of eligibility in transferring and waited another for Gene Menges to graduate before he made his debut at San Jose.

FISHING

Many people were glad to see April 28 arrive, and headed for the mountain streams and lakes.

At Lake Merced there were thousands of fishermen and fisherwomen trying to catch those big rainbows. All 70 boats were gone at 2 a.m. Saturday and people had to wait in line for as long as six hours to get a boat. Lots of fish were caught from boats.

Jim Galindo caught his limit of two fish, and they were 16 inches long. Again on Sunday Jim fished and got a 13 incher and a 14 incher.

Gary Gardner also caught his limit. One was 23 inches and weighed 3½ pounds, the other was 17 inches and weighed 1½ pounds.

Fredie Bertetta caught one fish Saturday and one Sunday. Both fish were about 1½ pounds.

Bill Evans, Dick Evans and Mr. Evans caught their limits on Sunday. Bill's fish were 14 and 10 inches, Dick's were 10 and 12, and Mr. Evans' fish were 14 and 11 inches long. All of their fish were caught on red cluster eggs.

Dave and Larry Hansen went fishing Saturday and caught their limits. Again on Sunday they got their limit. On Monday evening and Tuesday morning they both got one fish. Dave says that all fish were betwen 15 and 20 inches long.

JR. ROD AND GUN CLUB

The next meeting of the Junior Rod and Gun Club will be held on May 2. At the meeting there will be movies, refreshments and a raffle.

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Frankly, I have reached the end of my writing tether this morning. Yesterday it was housework; the day before that it was the telephone and over all the days of my week has hung a cloud of meetings and more meetings.

Last night when my husband came home from work he kissed me and asked me how the day had gone. Pencil poised over a tablet of paper and with my mind far away, I murmured absently.

"Would you repeat that last sentence? These facts must be straight, Mr. Chairman, before they can be printed!"

"You don't say!" he answers in a very surprised tone and grabs the pencil and sweeps my papers onto the flor. "Maybe you should see a doctor, dear," and then adds, in a tone so full of iron that I can feel it oxidize coming out of his throat, "Or get a good night's sleep—if you don't have to go out?"

Then it comes to me like a flash—and not in the "pan," either, that although the age of chilvalry is dead—man's mind is stil playing "nights and castles" instead of "meetings for mothers!"

The telephone rang!

"Hello—" I say, smiling over at my family's tense faces. "No, I'm terribly sorry. Perhaps another time." I continue, and sonsign another meeting to LIMBO—without a qualm. Two lady friends, a luncheon and a request that I take the paper "for just one month" followed the Meeting durthe course of the evening.

Remember the poem "Home is the sailor home from the sea, and the hunter home from the hill?" Well, this journalist is home from her journeyings—a chastened and humble little woman!

Things are going to be different around our house from now on! There wil be bustling in the kitchen and "bussing" at the door—and afternoons I wil lsit on a cushion and sew up fine seams and mend up knees of my baby's blue jeans. For a week, at least!

"THO GOD SEEST ME"

Hope Lutheran Church

"THO GOD SEEST ME" - Genesis 16, 13

To say that our God is a God that sees certainly belongs to the very first things of Christian believing. No one who confesses the God of the Bible thinks himself in the hands of a blind fate that scrambles things and events into a meaningless pattern. The thought that God sees belongs to the ABC of the Christian faith; yet it is so full of meaning, that we do well to ponder it for a moment.

My fellowmen see me. That means much to me. If I fall and break an arm, someone is beside me, sees me, and helps me to get aid and medical attention. But we may be like the woman Hagar, alone in the desert, unseen of human eyes. This loneliness is not one of physical dimensions only. There is a desert loneliness of the spirit in which we are withdrawn from man's seeing, although our bodies may occupy space within easy range of his eyes.

How little we actually see our fellowmen. We meet, salute, pass one another, perhaps exchange greetings, and still we remain unseen. We live for years under the same roof, work in the same shop, store, or office, study at adjoining desks. Eye looks into eye, but the deep secrets and longings lie covered within. The soul remains a separate solitude, and no telescope can bring it into focus. When the human eye does see, it is often only to look and observe. Who does not see the confusion of the world today? But who among us can do something about that need? What good does it do the physician to see his patient dying?

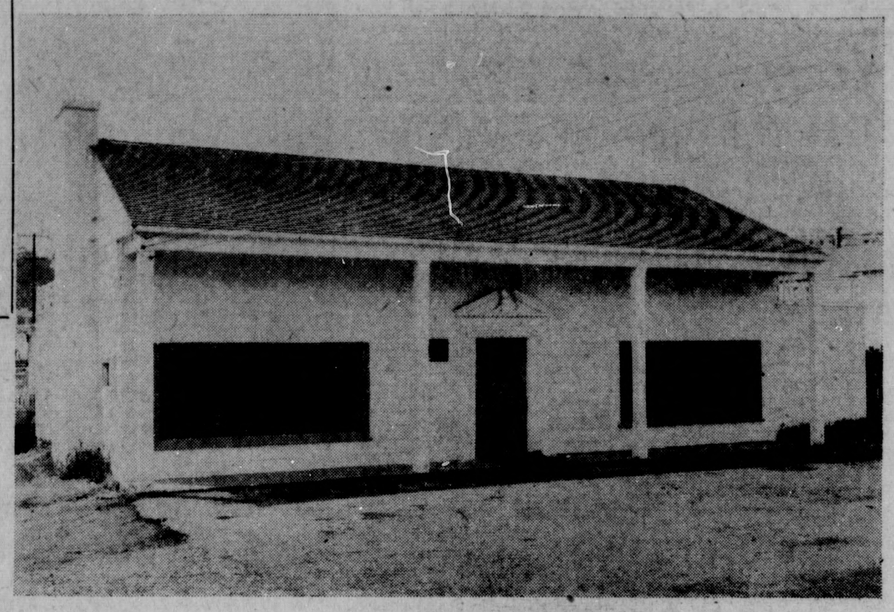
God's seeing is more than simply observing. His seeing is not only diagnosis. He sees in order to supply. For every disturbance and upheaval of heart, he has provided his calm peace. He has made provisions of mercy to hallow every thorn in the flesh, to make every weakness of mind and body perfect.

And so we confess with Hagar: "Thou God seest me." He saw Hagar in her need in the wilderness. He didn't lose sight of her when men no longer saw her. God hasn't lost sight of you. And, friend, it takes a lot of seeing to watch our little sand pebble of life in the wilderness of human existence. God's seeing is thorough. He not only sees what happens outside of us, but he sees what goes on within us.

Why does God see us as He does? ...so kindly, so helpfully, so mercifully. Only because he sees us through the cleansing blood of Christ; only because he has permitted the Light of the world to shine in our black hearts.

"Thou seest me, O God." With a Father's love. He who gave His Son for me, to be born, to live, to die for me: now he freely gives me all things. God sees me through Jesus Christ to help me, to save me, to guide me, to forgive me, to lead me to glory. Because God sees me, all will be well with me, if I lift up my eyes and my heart confidently to Him.

Church of the Week



HOPE LUTHERAN CHURCH

The members of Hope Lutheran Church are firmly convinced that many big things have small beginnings. Way back in 1948, on November 14th, a Sunday School under the sponsorship of West Portal Lutheran Church (19th and Sloat Blvd.) opened its first session with 20 pupils present. Parents were alert to the needs of religious education for their children, and the group very rapidly grew. It became necessary for the children and their parents to call a full time worker to this field. Less than a year later the Rev. Max Zschiegner became first pastor of the Lutheran Church of Broadmoor. After two years of service in this area, Pastor Zschiegner accepted an assignment to the mission fields of Japan.

The present pastor, The Rev. Louis C. Marting, was installed on March 4th of this year. In the past weeks the congregation has formally organized under the name of Hope Lutheran Church. One of the first committees organized was a group to select a site for the proposed church building. Plans will be drawn up after property has been purchased.

At present services are held in the Community Recreation Center in Broadmoor Village. The Hall is transformed every Sunday morning into a devotional chapel by means of a portable altar, lectern, and docile curtain. The members of Hope Church anxiously await the time when they can worship in their own building.

DC Korean Veteran Returns Saturday

First Lieutenant Patrick H. Gannon of 7 Belmont Dr., Westlake, will be among 47 Northern California army combat veterans returning from Korea Saturday.

Gannon, 26, wil larrive with a group of 1545 veterans on board the USNS General Leroy Eltinge at Seatlle. He is returning under the army's new rotation plan.

Waiting to greet him at the dock wil lbe his wife, who left today by plane. Mrs. Gannon said they will spend most of his leave here, where they and their 5-year-old son, Kevin, live with relatives.

A University of San Francisco graduate, Gannon has been in the army for more than five years, and has been in the Orient since January 1950 when he began occupation duty in Japan. He spent seven months of combat duty in Korea and was hospitalized for a time.

Mrs. Gannon first learned of her husband's returning when a Tokyo friend of his wired the San Francisco Associated Press office last week. "It was the most wonderful news I have ever heard," she said.

She has talked to him by telephone since then.

Awards Given At Pack 63 Meeting

Five Pack 63 boys received Scout-O-Rama ticket sales emblems at the regular meeting last Friday night.

Receiving the emblems were Richard Moran, Donald Cubic, Stephen Lyon, Michael Crystal and Roy Cavalini.

Six boys were given cub-scout awards. Russell Budde received a bobcat pin; Jack Klasen, a lion badge; Donald Cubic and Maurice Bradshaw, silver arrow; Michael Crystal and Robert Connor, golden arrow. Robert Conner also received a wolf badge.

A new boy, Jim Bradshaw, was introduced at the meeting.

The remainder of the meeting was dedicated to making plans for the Scout-O-Rama propram May 4 and 5. The boys have been practicing industriously an hour every afternoon for their skit.

The skit portrays one of the momentous events in the history of our country—the driving of the golden spike that connected the first transcontinental railroad.

STOP SIGNS MEAN "STOP"

Too many drivers are guilty of sneaking through stop signs. Make it a habit to come to a full stop, cautions the California State Automobile Association. This may prevent you from being involved in a serious collision.

Mrs. Plansky is a charter member of the Daughters of Israel and the Patient Tuberculosis Association.

They have raised four sons here and had them educated in the local schools.

Registration of individual agreements between apprentices and their employers with proper State agencies is required now.

Price Ceilings On Meat Clamped On Here May 14

Retail ceiling prices for all standard cuts of beef—the highest prices California and Nevada butchers may charge housewives—were released today by the Office of Price Stabilization.

The ceilings go into effect on May 14 and specify the price per pound of standardized cuts, ranging from Porterhouse steaks to shanks and other beef products. They are a part of the OPS beef control program which is expected to reduce the retail price of beef and average of ten per cent by early autumn. The program is contained in four related regulations which the OPS issued over the weekend.

The regulations were designed to cut the cost of beef from the stockyard to the dinner table. Ceiling Price Regulation 23 reduced the price slaughter-houses may pay for live cattle; Ceiling Price Regulation 24 fixed dollars and cents ceiling prices for wholesale cuts of practically all varieties of beef and beef products; Ceiling Price Regulations 25 and 26 did the same for retailers. Meat products not covered by these regulations remain under the Ceiling Price Regulation which froze them at the highest price level between December 19, 1950 and January 26, of this year.

The retail beef regulations require butchers and other stores selling beef to post the OPS ceiling prices by June 4, near the counter where the meat is sold and in a position where housewives may read them without difficulty. They also require the retailers to list their selling prices alongside the OPS ceiling charts.

The regulations covering retailers (Ceiling Price Regulations 25 and 26) divide all stores selling beef into three groups for pricing purposes, based on historical gross food sales and meat margins. Independents with a gross annual food sales of $375,000, and a realized margin of 17 per cent from the meat department, are in one group; chain stores or independents with an annual gross of more than $375,000 and a realized margin of more than 17 percent from meats in 1950 are in a second; and other retailers whose margin fro mmeat departments were less than 17 per cent are in a third category.

There follows the retail ceiling price charts for all three groups of retailers in California and Nevada.

Redwood City Man Named To Schools

The first major appointment in the administrative reorganization of the office of the County Superintendent of Schools was announced by County Superintendent James R. Tormey last week with the appointment of Dr. Clyde Curry as Director of Administration and Deputy Superintendent of Schools.

Dr. Curry is being promoted from the position of Director of Research, which he has held in the County Superintendent's office since 1949. Curry was a teacher and principal in the Redwood City schools from 1941 to 1942, was an officer in the United States Navy from 1942 to 1946, and came to the County Office from the State Department of Education where he was a Consultant in Research from 1946 to 1949.

Curry resides in Redwood City at 2212 Whipple Avenue, is forty-three years of age, married, and the father of four children.

As Director of Administration, Dr. Curry will be in charge of the entire financial side of the County Superintendent's office, including the fields of accounting, school budgets, legal advice, credentials, school building planning, etc. The salary will be $8,340.00 of which $3,200.00 will be paid from county funds with the remainder coming from state funds. This dual source of salary, comparable with the salary situation of the County Superintendent, has been developed to permit the Deputy Superintendent to legally work both in the areas of service paid from county funds and in those paid from state funds.

Tormey indicated that he would soon announce the appointment of a Director of Education to head the personal services of curruculum development, guidance and evaluation, and welfare and attendance.

The Victoria River Downs Station, in Australia's Northern Territority is the largest cattle ranch in the world—twice the size of New Jersey.

Memorial Poppy Day Set May 26

The red crepe paper poppy, replica of the Flanders Poppy, was officially adopted in 1921 as the Memorial flower of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Through the years it has become the symbol of the dead—their memorial flower, and will be sold here May 26.

The red crepe paper poppy is hand-made exclusively by disabled veterans of World Wars I and II. It is made of paper to give the veteran a maximum amount of work and income. In many cases the income derived from this source constitutes the only income of that disabled veteran.

Each year volunteer workers, members of the American Legion Auxiliary, offer these poppies to the public, to be worn by them on Memorial Day, so they may pay tribute to the dead of the two world wars.

All contributions made by the public are used by the American Legion Auxiliary exclusively for the welfare of disabled veterans and their families throughout the state of California.

1951 Scout-A-Rama Slated May 4 to 5 In San Francisco

The Scout-O-Rama, presented by the San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America, is a mass exhibition of the crafts, skills, sports, games and many other recreational and educational activities in which boys in all branches of Scouting participate.

ATTRACTIVE TEACHER—Ruth Hussey, stage and screen star, plays the role of teacher for the American Cancer Society's 1951 Cancer Crusade which has the double objective of raising funds and teaching the public the facts about cancer.

This year the show is being held at the Cow Palace, Friday and Saturday nights, May 4 and 5 from 7:30 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. A capacity crowd of 20,000 persons will witness four thousand boys, representing Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers, take part in a program of nine huge events.

Scout-O-Ramas ars traditional with Scout Councils throughout the country. They act as a means of informing the public of the type of activities which Scouting offers to boys of all ages, and provide interesting program material for the various Units who participate in them in a given area.

The San Francisco Council, serving 10,000 youths and adult volunteer leaders in Scouting in the city and county of San Francisco, Daly City and Brisbane, presents its Scout-O-Rama every other year. The first such show, originally called the Scout Circus, was held in the Civic Auditorium in 1924 with Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien as general chairman. In alternate years the Council holds an Exposition, a booth exhibit type show demonstrating the various skills which Scouts master in order to receive their merit badges.

Council President, P. Tremain Loud, named Les Vogel, Jr., general chairman of this year's show, with Arthur Dettner, Jr. and Henry E. Sloss acting as vice-chairmen in charge of production and promotion; John C. Wells as director, and Chet A. Koehler and Mart P. Bushnell as assistant directors.

Each year of the Scout-O-Rama, the San Francisco Council, whose Scout Executive is Oscar G. Alverson, calls upon hundreds of parents and leaders in the area for their help in producing the Scout attraction. Plans are made months in advance and each Unit is responsible for organizing and rehearsing its members for their part in the overall program. Every detail of staging and production is plotted beforehand, but the complete show is presented without a single dress rehearsal.

A city-wide ticket sales campaign is in full swing with all seven districts of the Council (Sunset, Richmond, Lake Merced, Embarcadero, Mission Trails, Golden Gate and McLaren Park) competing. Awards are being issued to individual boys for the number of tickets sold and commissions given to their Units.

County Schools Record 9 Per Cent Enrollment Jump

Enrollment in the schools of San Mateo County in all grades has increased approximately 9% in the past year, rising from 46,011 at March 31, 1950, to 50,124 at March 30, 1951.

Reference to the end of the school year 1945-46 (the date at which education needs in California became so acute that a totally new system of State support of education went into effect) indicates an even more startling indication of growth. In the five years since 1946 the population of the schools of San Mateo County has increased over 50% At the end of the school year 1945-46 enrollment in the schools of the county was 33,413 as compared with the current enrollment of 50,124.

The effect of this growth is not only to increase the loads upon the individual school districts but upon the office of the County Superintendent of Schools. In 1947 the increased aid to county school offices and the additional duties of those offices were reflected by a comparison of the financial demands on the office of the County Superintendent of Schools in San Mateo County over the five-year period. The total demands upon the County Office budget for the school year 1945-46 totaled $101,135.83. The 1950-51 budget has had to provide $518,860.00 worth of services.

The 50% rise in school enrollment over a five-year period is one explanation of why taxes have risen despite the rise in assessed valuations. The situation simply is that school population has increased many times more rapidly that has assessed valuation. In one district of the county over a ten-year period the assessed valuation has doubled, but the school population has quadrupled and the pre-school age group, from one to six years, has nearly quintupled.

U. S. MILITARY ACADEMY LIBRARY—This gray stone Tudor building, designed by Maj. Richard Delafield in 1841, was intended to house an astronomical observatory, post headquarters and a library. About 1900 the interior was extensively remodeled to adapt it to library purposes alone. It contains about 135,000 volumes, exclusive of those in 13 departmental libraries. This photograph from the National Archives is from a negative made by Matthew Brady at West Point more than 80 years ago. Next year the Academy observes its sesquicentennial.

Cancer Film Shown At Mills Hospital

"A practical device for saving lives," was the description given a new film, to teach women how to examine their breasts as a safeguard against cancer, shown at a meeting of womens' organizations at Mills Memorial Hospital Auditorium.

The comment was made by Dr. Kirk H. Prindle, vice president of the San Mateo County Branch of the American Cancer Society.

The showing was sponsored by the San Mateo County Branch of the American Cancer Society as part of the 1951 Cancer Crusade, which is seeking to raise $27,500.00.

"This is a realistic approach to a problem that is costing the lives of about 20,000 American women every year," Dr. Prindle stated—"It shows us one way of STRIKING BACK AT CANCER."

Mrs. Fuller Brawner, Deputy Commander then addressed the group, saying, "This film has already saved countless lives. As a result of the film being shown in our County, we have been told by many women, that it helped them discover tumors. Such a discovery, of course, indicates immediate examination by a physician."

Former Resident Wins Scholarship

Richard Lingelser, formerly a resident of Daly City and now living at 306 Judson Street, San Francisco, is the winner of a four-year all-expense-paid George F. Baker scholarship to Reed College, it was announced at a banquet held at the college last week.

Lingelser was chosen from a field of 58 candidates from California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, and Montana to receive one of the four coveted awards.

This is the first year that Reed has granted the scholarships under the provisions of the $50,000 fund from the Baker Foundation. The four scholarships range from $500 to $1300 per year and run for the full four year period necessary to obtain a degree.

Lingelser graduated from the High School of Commerce, San Francisco, in January with a distinguished record in a number of departments. He was student body president and participated in various sports.

Lingelser is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin R. Lingelser of 53 Lundy Lane, San Francisco.

Latin Quarter Review Slated At Golden Gate

The Latin Quarter Revue, direct from Lou Walters' famous New York night-club, the Latin Quarter, is coming to the Golden Gate Theatre in San Francisco on Thursday, May 3rd, for one week.

A whirling, swirling, mile-a-minute, song and dance girl show, the Latin Quarter Revue takes the audience on "Pleasure Bound" tour of the world. There is Ernestine Mercer, the tall and terrific Texan who has been dubbed the "Love For Sale" girl because of her wonderful rendition of Cole Porter's sultry classic.

Direct to the Latin Quarter Revue from a senational engagement in the Lido in Paris comes the Four Hurricanes, one of the greatest adagio acts ever to appear in America. For singing there is the up-and-coming young singing star, Ralph Young, whose records for London and Decca are top sellers across the record counters and in the juke boxes. Working with Ralph is Toni Carroll, magazine cover girl, and an adorable young singing star as well.

For individual and distinctive dancing there is the incomparable Mons. Piroska, who Lou Walters saw on one of his trips to Europe at the Bal Tabain in Paris and signed him up for the Latin Quarter. Piroska is starred in the startling can-can which is always a high spot in Latin Quarter shows.

SOFT WAVES KEYNOTE OF NEW HAIR STYLES

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS

Since the season's new hair styles call for soft, natural waves, home permanents have become "allies in romance." To get flattering loveliness from your wave, here are some helpful hints:

Buy your kit ahead of time, and familiarize yourself with its instructions. Make sure in advance that your hair is thinned, shaped, and that all dried and "split" ends are cut off. Allow plenty of time. Though you'll probably complete the job in about four hours, allow six the first time, so you don't feel rushed. Assemble everything you need ahead of time—the kit, an alarm clock, shampoo, four sterile gauze pads for applying lotion and neutralizer, and two glass bowls.

Study the directions, marking paragraphs referring to your type of hair. Home permanent procedures have been carefully worked out by the makers. For best results, follow their directions to the letter . . .

Two steps determine whether you put wave or wilt in your hair. A thorough and even saturation of each curl with waving lotion puts the wave in. Another thorough and even saturation with neutralizer keeps the wave from wilting. Both steps are easy to do when you use sterile gauze pads for the job. They come in a convenient size, each wrapped in a glassine envelope which keeps it sterile for use on your scalp. You'll find that the gauze pads do not fray or pull apart when wet.

Hair experts say it's a good idea to allow at least three months between permanents, cutting off split ends each time. This eliminates any possibility of "breakage" by over-curling the ends of your hair.

Fashion's decree of soft, natural curls is easy to follow when you appoint yourself a home hairdresser.

New Blood Bank Drive Endorsed

The drive to raise $100,000 to erect a new Blood Bank for San Mateo County, replacing the present outmoded and over-crowded quarters, received impetus this week with the unanimous endorsement of labor, the medical profession and the Board of Education.

Thomas A. Small, vice-president of the State Federation of Labor and president, Central Council of San Mateo County, endorsed the campaign in behalf of labor groups. Full cooperation was promised in raising necesary funds to start the building. Nine years ago labor organizations suggested the creation of a Blood Bank for the county.

The financial support of every citizen was urged by the San Mateo County Medical Society. "Our group knows that only through better facilities can the Blood Bank continue to render service to mankind," said Robert L. Wood, executive secretary of the Society.

James R. Tormey, County Superintendent of Schools, unanimously backed the drive for the San Mateo County Board of Education. Said he: "The Board has expressed the feeling that the Blood Bank is one of the most critical essential community programs in the county. The Blood Bank not only is essential in meeting our obligations to our fellow communities in the Bay Area and in the nation, but it also provides an existing safeguard that our own people and our own children may desperately need in either war time or peace time disasters."

City Administrator Dan E. Andersen has been appointed chairman of the funding drive for Daly City. Among his plans are a civic function, admission to which will be a signed pledge to the Blood Bank.

Mrs. Stella Jensen, Trustee of the Blood Bank, is cooperating with with Mr. Andersen in formulating plans for Daly City's participation in fund-raising for the San Mateo County Blood Bank.

Spokesmen for the Blood Bank have announced that when the new building has been erected there will be facilities for mobile units which will visit every section of the county for taking blood. This will eliminate the necessity of trips to the Blood Bank for this purpose.

BECOMES A GOOD HABIT

Many of the habits of motor car owners are bad and, likewise, many of them are good, declares the National Automobile Club. One of the best is that of looking occasionally at the oil gauge. One of the most definite marks of a good driver, of a driver who realizes the importance of engine lubrication, is that of looking at the oil gauge at frequent intervals.

UNDER-INFLATION

When tires show scuffed shoulders and greater wear on the shoulders than in the center of the tread, the trouble is probably due to under-inflation, according to the California State Automobile Association. Another effect is low gas mileage because more power is required to move a car when tires are under-inflated.

Special industry committees are authorized to set minimum wages for Puerto Rico workers under the Federal wage and hour law.

School Board

Ruth Fisher Thanks Backers

Following is a letter to The Record from Ruth Macdonald Fisher, candidate for the Jefferson Elementary School Board May 18:

Did you know that our city newspaper, THE RECORD, is called just that? THE RECORD. It is a good name. The RECORD is no doubt proud of its record. And it is no doubt proud to go on record at any time of free thinking and Democracy. Isn't that the purpose of most of us?

And so, allow me to indulge in my way of free thinking. I believe that free thinking is that which does not harm others but which helps others. That seems to be the policy of the Press and I am very proud to be acknowledged by the paper, The Record.

Furthermore I am pleased that so many people have contacted me in regard to my part in the forthcoming election of Trustees for the Jefferson Elementary School District. They are interested in what constitutes a School District. They have become interested in what constitutes a Board of Trustees. And they seem to be interested, as parents, in the workings of the school program. Most people do not realize that many things connected with the schools, are directly part of the whole community. or instance, our entire school program comprises the building of the school, the school grounds, and the roads surrounding the school. If these things are not considered properly and instituted sensibly, and if they are not executed intelligently by the School Authorities, the parents and then the children will suffer for many years into the future.

I mention roads. Somebody may wonder to what degree they are important to a school program.

Included in the school building program are both buildings and roads. They are integrated. And that is why the two factors have to be duly considered by the community as a whole when everyone is concerned. The School Trustees have these essentials to be weighed along with the other policies. I appeal to the community to continue the interest in this matter of roads surrounding schools and connected communities. There is one such large issue concerning the West of Junipera Serra people. And this concerns us all because we wish to come to a happy agreement on an issue that needs clearing up.

These sections and villages west of the highway have grown so fast that some of us have not been aware of it. And with the ever increasing need for new roads, wise planning and wise decisions must be made. It is very gratifying to learn those sections of our school district are interested in this issue that is so important.

Let me reiterate here, the road question is so important that we cannot afford to ignore it. This issue could retard the progress of the building program. Yes, that is quite so. The School Trustees and the Authorities of the Jefferson Elementary School District have to decide factors in a limited and set time. I should like to see this issue settled amicably. I should like to see those most closely concerned, the ones at the West side of our district, completely pleased and satisfied with the right decision.

Their wishes should be well considered and fairly met with. And I will most certainly reflect fairness and deal with fairness for such a vital issue.

There are many such issues that will be before us as a community and should the desires be made known and I am granted the right, I will work with the community to consummate them. Remember that, when one is elected to an office of Trustee, it means this—

California Housing Costs Are Highest

MAY 3. (CNS)—It costs more for housing in California, whether you rent or own your own home, than elsewhere in the United States, the Bureau of Census, Department of Commerce, announced this week.

In a report on housing conditions in California, the bureau said the rent level in California is $40 per month as compared to a national average of $35. One-fourth the units in the state are rented for less than $30 and one-fifth for more than $60.

The Report state the median price for non-farm homes in this state is $9,600 against a national average of $7,400.

There were, at the time the census was taken, 3,489,000 dwelling units, an increase of 1,149,000 over 1940 and a gain of 49 per cent.

The bureau found most significant development from 1940 was the increase in home ownership. There were last year 1,764,000 home-owned dwellings, or 54 per cent of the total residences in the state.

Extend Deadline To File Prices

The deadline for retailers of consumer goods to file their pricing charts under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 and Amendment 2 to CPR-7 has been extended until May 30, the Office of Price Stabilization announced today.

No extension of deadlines was granted retail grocers who must file OPS Public Form 5 by April 28 or to restauranteurs who must have their statements in the OPS District Office by April 30.

"All retail stores selling clothes, shoes, furniture, yardage and other consumer goods are covered by Ceiling Price Regulation 7 which required them to file their price charts with the OPS District Office on or before April 30," OPS officials said. "On April 10, CPR-7 was amended to include hundreds of additional items ranging from notions to television sets. Many store owners complained that it was physically impossible to meet the deadline on items covered by the regulation and the amendment, so a thirty-day extension was granted."

Pricing charts set ceiling prices and provide the basis for "marginal" type markups which limit the profit retailers may make on any item covered by the Regulation and the amendment, it was further pointed out.

Young Teens Learn How to Sew With Mannikin Doll Kit

By ANNE GARY—ANS Features

Easy Way To Learn. Imagine spending hours at the fascinating pastime of making doll clothes and then realizing that—while you've been having the time of your life—you've mastered the techniques of machine stitching, using a pattern, fitting, finishing and even designing clothes. And what a short-cut it is, then, to make and design your own garments. All this can be accomplished with the help of a Singer Mannikin Doll Set, which consists of a box containing a pretty 12½-inch doll (of washable Latex) with movable arms and a sturdy base to stand her on, six miniature patterns simplified for use by the beginner seamstress, and a sewing handbook which describes many important features of sewing and various types of stitches. Also included in the box are thimble, tape measure and needle threader. The most ingenious feature of the Mannikin's wardrobe is the fact that her miniature patterns are exact replicas of current patterns for adults and children, now on sale. So once sewing technique for the Mannikin has been grasped, you can see it's an easy step to make real clothes.

Miniature Sewing Machine. A natural companion item for the Mannikin kit is the "Sewhandy"—an actual sewing machine, that's also available at Local Sewing Centers throughout the country. It's especially designed so tiny fingers can't get hurt . . . makes a real chain stitch, so, after stitching miniature clothes, it will still be useful for mending seams, sheets, pillow cases and other sewing where a good firm machine stitch is in order.

Australia, Russia, the United States and New Zealand had a total of 711,100,000 head of sheep in 1948.

SM Blood Bank Stresses No Food Before Donation

One restriction that the San Mateo Blood Bank would like to stress is donors must not eat anything for four hours before their appointed time to give blood. In a recent mobile trip the Blood Bank was forced to discard 33 out of 35 pints of blood taken because the men in the factory had been eating candy bars all afternoon.

The process of fat digestion takes about four hours and this fat passes through the blood stream in the process of digestion. When blood containing fat cannot be used because patients receiving the blood have a serious allergic-type reaction. Neither can the blood be used for by-products because the ultra violet rays used in drying plasma do not pass through thefat, so it is impossible to dry the plasma. Sometimes the plasma is so greasy it actually clings to the inside of the bottle.

Donors who have eaten and don't admit it, fool no one for the blood starts cloting even on the little tubes used to type blood. Milk and eggs contain fat so the Red Cross urges their donors for the Armed Forces to be on the safe side and take only fruit juices and black coffee. Even the "pause that refreshes" is allowed for cola drinks contain sugar but not fat. The Blood Bank works on the suposition that you haven't eaten, so don't; or if you have, tell them so they won't draw the blood and then have to waste it.

Last month over fifty pints of blood were wasted because of donors eating to soon before their appointments. Red Cross hopes their future donors will remember and cooperate.

INTERSECTIONS

All kinds of unexpected things can go wrong at intersections, warns the National Automobile Club. This is why the wise driver approaches them with caution and drives through them with alert care. By doing so he keeps himself from getting "crossed up at the crossroads."

DC Man Stationed In Massachusetts

WESTOVER AIR BASE, Mass. MAY 3. — 2nd Lieut. Max Kurtz of Daly City, Calif., has been assigned to navigational duties in the 1257th Air Transport Squadron this base, following his recall to active duty in March.

With the 449th Bomb Group in Italy, Lt. Kurtz flew 39 combat missions in World War II. He was awarded the Air Medal and five battle stars.

Discharged in 1945, Kurtz returned to his position of supervisor at the Central Coat and Linen Supply Co., New York City. Offered the position of branch manager, Centry Coat and Linen Supply, at Oakland, California, his call to duty prevented his accepting.

Lieutenant Kurtz is married to the former Victoria Candido of San Francisco. They have one child, Nancy, age 4.

BACK UP CAREFULLY

When backing out of a driveway, always make certain the path behind you is clear, urges the California State Automobile Association. Then, back very slowly, keeping your eyes wide open. It may prevent an accident.

SOUTHERN BELLE!

Like the true Southern belle she is, 1951 Maid of Cotton Jeannine Holland of Houston, Texas, picks as one of her cotton fashion favorites a hoop-skirted date dress designed by Margaret Newman. Contrasting with the old-fashioned hoop skirt is a strapless bodice, which is topped with a tiny bolero. The dress in navy cotton Lustersheer has an underskirt of red and blue dotted swiss.

Ray Studt, San Francisco Consultant on Juvenile Halls, the speaker on the program, stated that the people who are caring for the children in the Juvenile Halls in the state of California are trying to make that that experience a helpful one to the boy or girl that they work with, and treat these children as though they were human beings with the possibilities for making adjustments to society and through their committees and meetings among themselves, they are working towards that end.

BARGAINS BY THE BASKETFUL!

Not just a few "specials"... every item is PRICED LOW at SAFEWAY

We liked a phrase one of our customers used last week. She said she shops at Safeway because she gets "Bargains by the basketful." Her remark sums up our pricing policy in a nutshell. You see, we set every price right down at rock bottom. (Our profit last year was less then 1⅓ cents on each dollar we took in.) This means that everything you buy at Safeway is an honest-to-goodness value! Start today to make each basket of foods you buy a "basketful of bargains." It will help plenty if you've been having budget blues.

ON HOLLYWOOD BALCONY REPORT PREVIEW

by Ridgely Cummings

Hollywood has two daily trade papers which are unique, so far as I know.

Both are printed on slick paper, both are four column tabloids, nine by twelve inches and looking a good bit like thin magazines; and both are devoted exclusively to show business.

One is called the Daily Variety, printed in black and green ink. The other is the Hollywood Reporter, printed in black and red.

They sell for ten cents a copy so I seldom buy them both on the same day. Unfortunately for the purpose of this tale I don't remember which one it was I purchased the other morning, but whichever one it was carried a full back-page ad reading something like this:

"If you can get into my theatre on Holywood Blvd. tonight at 8:30 you will experience the shock of your life. . . signed, Sam Warner."

A Teaser

I don't vouch for the wording but that was the general idea. It was a teaser, a few cryptic words prominently displayed, and I was intrigued. I asked several thespian acquaintainces what it was all about but they didn't know either.

So that evening about eight o'clock I strolled up to the Warner Brothers' theatre. The sidewalk was roped off, there were monstrous search-lights throwing beams against the smog, cops were dashing around officiously and a small crowd had clostered against the barriers.

I joined the sidewalk kibitzers, half of whom were casual evening strollers halted by curiosity and the other half professional autograph collectors, who nowadays stalk their prey with cameras, light bulbs, picture albums and all sorts of paraphenalia.

No Thrill

A group of well-dressed men and women alighted from cars and entered the foyer while a murmer went up in the crowd that Frank Lovejoy had just passed. I had never heard of Mr. Lovejoy and, noting he was a thin-lipped man with a strong face, of average height and build, was not unduly thrilled.

I would have departed if at that moment I had not seen a man and woman walk through the police lines and go up to the ticket window. They were simply dressed and looked like solid, middle class citizens, nothing glamorous about them.

They gave men an idea and I learned ,by inquiry, that one does not need to be a celebrity to buy tickets for a preview. So I too braved the police guards and flash lights, yielded up ninety cents and was ushered to the balcony, well segregated from the stars, who were seated in the orchestra section.

There I watched the tail end of a cowboy and Indian saga called "Sugarfoot," with a plot so complicated that I remembef only that al lthe villains were shot before the fadeout.

Big Hush

Then a hush descended upon the huse, there was a burst of music and on the screen came rushing the title of Mr. Warner's epic: "I Was a Communist for the FBI."

A murmum of conversation ran through the house, followed by bursts of applause, mostly from downstairs, as the names of Producer Bryan Foy, Director Gordon Douglas, Writer Crane Wilbur, and featured players Frank Lovejoy and Dorothy Hart appeared on the credit list.

The film was gripping, with an impressive news-reel authenticity, but there was too much brutality in for my taste and too much bandying about of the terms "Nigger" and "Jew" in the dialogue. I should make clear that it was the communists who used these terms contemptuously in the film and not the F. B. I. men.

When the thing was over there was prolonged applause and then most of the people in the balcony settled back to watch the comedy that followed.

But in the interests of my readers I felt that I should go down to the foyer again to see what cooked. I did, and ran into a friend from San Francisco. We stood to one side and chatted so despite my good intentions I am unable to report in detail upon which starlet wore what kind of mink. Which is just as well anyway, for I have run out of space.

A land use survey of San Francisco in 1949 disclosed 8,938 acres of land devoted to residential usage.
